The Round Up
1987-1988

Costa Mesa High School
Costa Mesa California
Vo. XXX

Editors In Chief:
August C. Seeber
Andrew D. Prickett

Advisor:
David Van Treese

We're off and running after Mesa's first year as a seventh through twelfth grade high school. Representing their respective classes are Shane Talbert, Bill Armstrong, Bret Dieball, Duberney Ospina, Mike Barton, and Eric Williams.

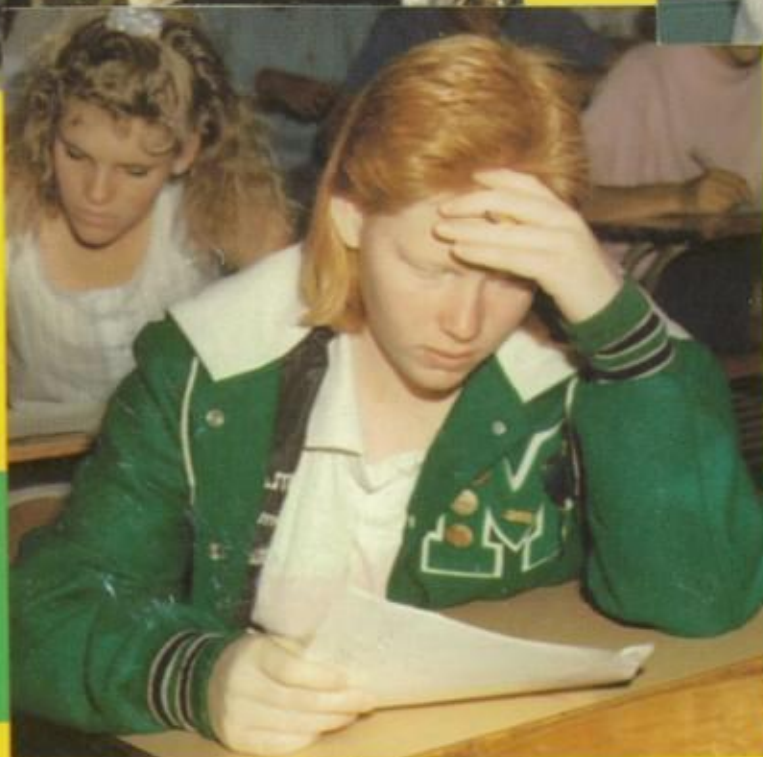

IT'S TAKEN YEARS

Shad Prock and Jamie Grimes workin' out.

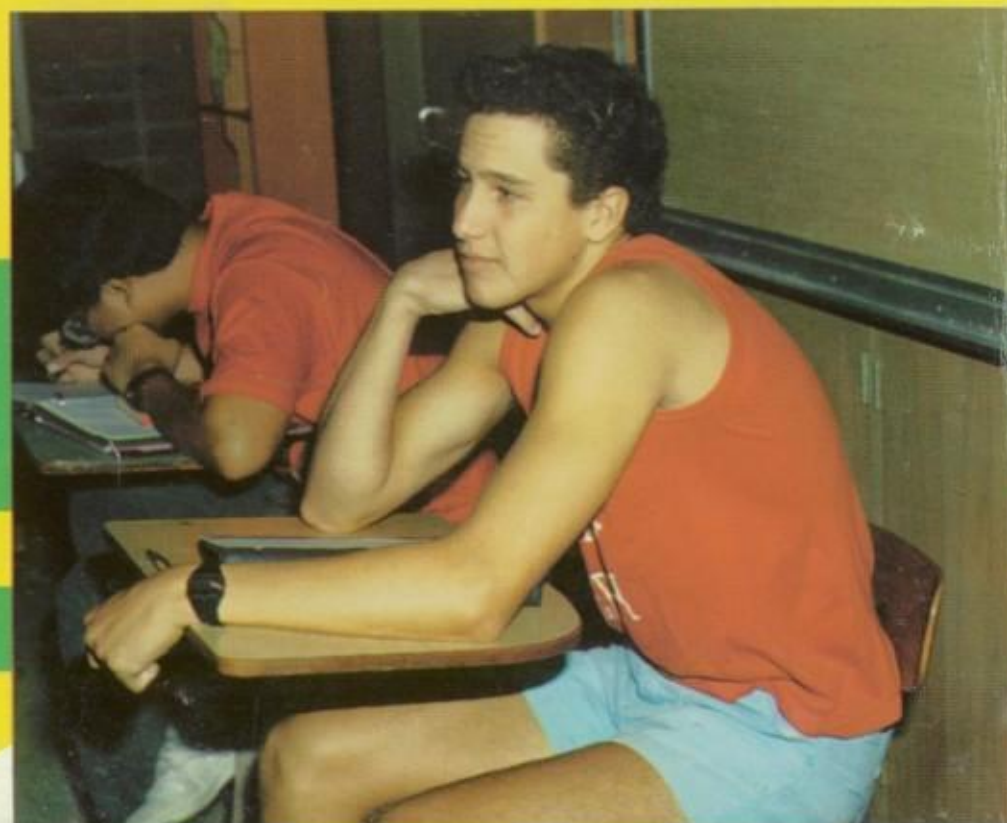

It wasn't overnight; it took time. But through diligence and patience the changes came, and they were dramatic.

Artista, Leah, and Bethany join together to experience a moment in life.

Kim Good enjoys a test.

The intensity of school escapes Paul Kos.

Hey Wendy,

Pinch your cheeks like you're mine!
About

I Love Jason!
♥:monique

Lori and Koreen attempt the difficult: class support.

Ayanna Chambliss: You're so special!

With a laugh, Tim McDowell says, "I'm outta here!"

Tony Brooks says, "I've worked hard enough."

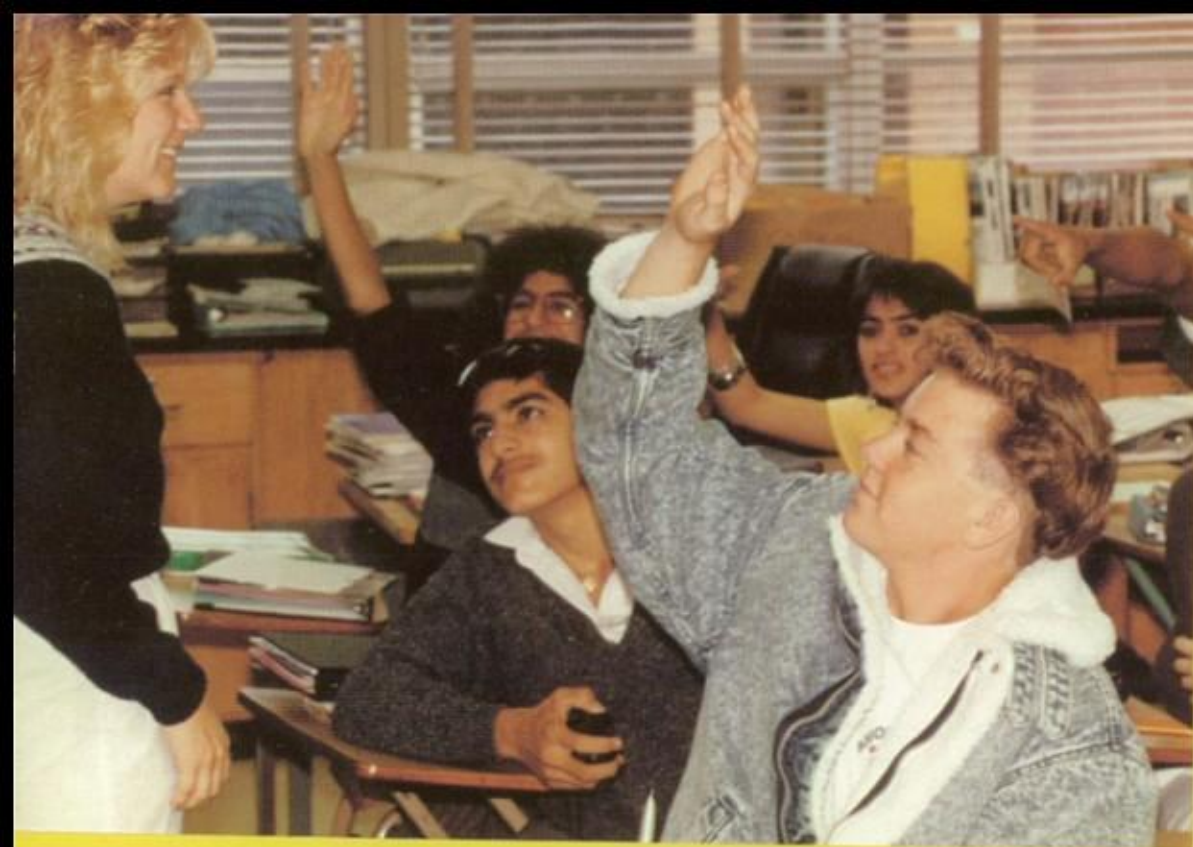

TRIAL OF ERROR

Various expressions summarize the splendor of eighth grade.

Changes aren't always perfect. They take hard work, careful planning, and patience to see them through.

It was together, from the seniors to the seventh graders, that we saw our dreams succeed. After all that just look at us now.

Mrs. Voechting pushes her class to the limit.

Silent reading ... How exciting.

Tim asks Mr. Beaton, "Conjunction junction what's your function?"

BREAKING TRADITIONS

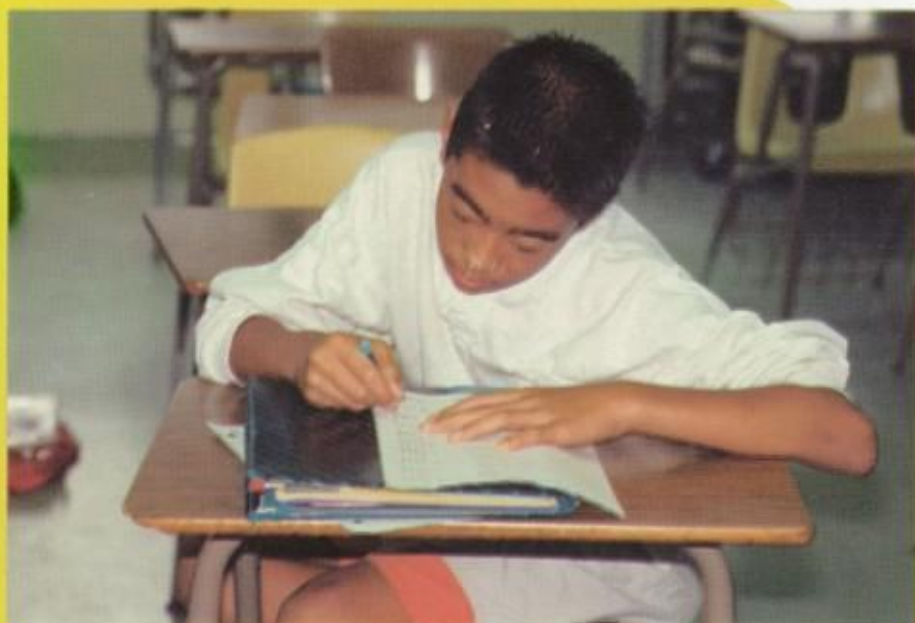

It was through change improvements were brought around. Many traditions held us back, but by breaking them we strived forward to where we are now.

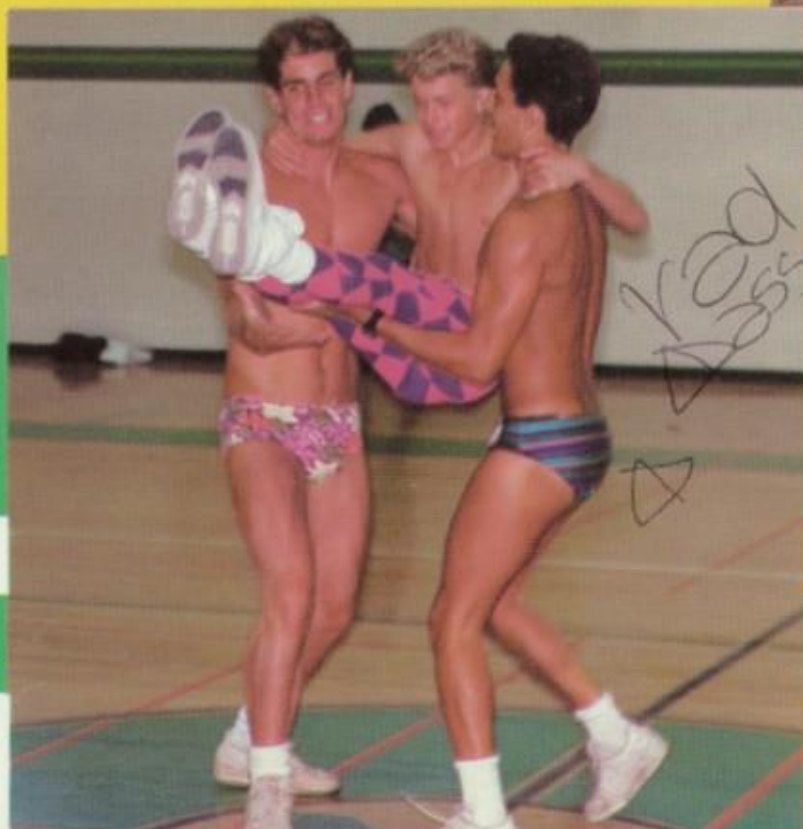

Jack shows Jenne how it's done.

A perfect underclassmen, as always, hard at work.

Mike, Bret and Brad show the latest in fashion swim wear.

CREATING NEW ONES

We've added on new dimensions, grown in size and proportions. Together we reinforced old traditions, and discovered new ones. A mix of old with a breath of fresh air.

Trendy seventh and eighth graders dress for success.

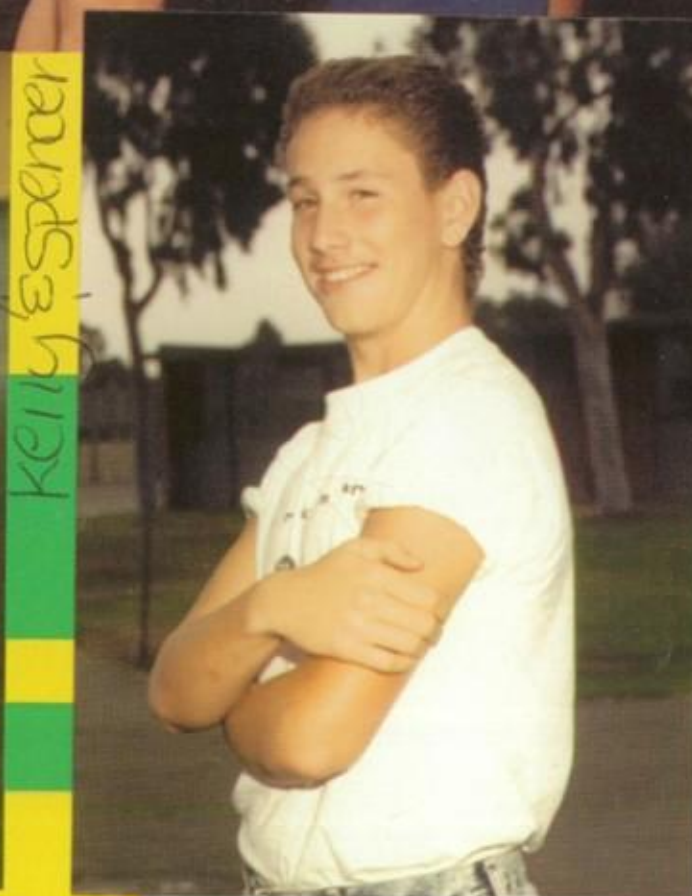

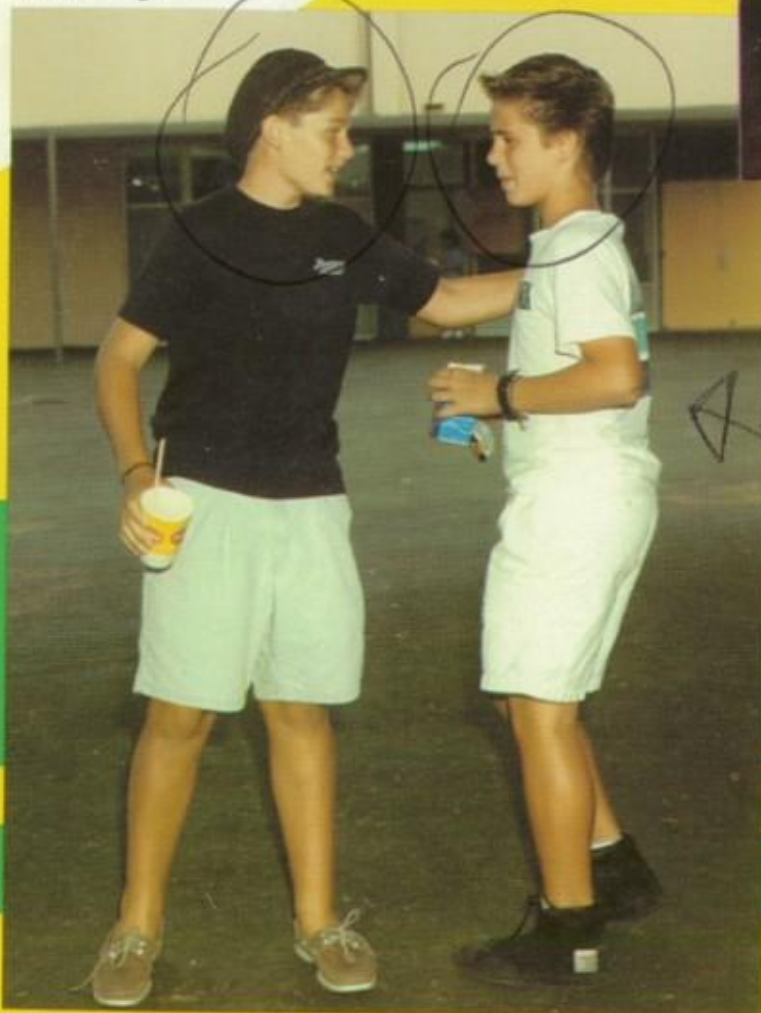

BUT WE'VE MADE IT

It was together, together crying, together laughing, together fearing and together hoping. We weathered the bad times and celebrated the good. We started with a dream and ended with reality ...

Marlo Morton says, "The 'M' stands for 'Marlo'."

Spencer Peterson says, "Hey Kelly — everything's cool, alright?"

Mike Barton—

Jason Wright kicks back into the hands of Becky Jolley.

Carrie Cunnings, Stephanie Bush, Candy Kaii, and Carrie Paff: "Hey, WE look good!"

Juniors—Class of '89 is so fine.

Debbie Rodriguez gets the royal treatment she deserves!

Alright man!!!!

Four cool dudes just hangin' out

What are you laughin' at?

AND NOW

This says it all!

This is it. We're living in the middle of it. From now, on through the up and coming generations, it is absolutely necessary that we don't give up.

WE'RE OFF

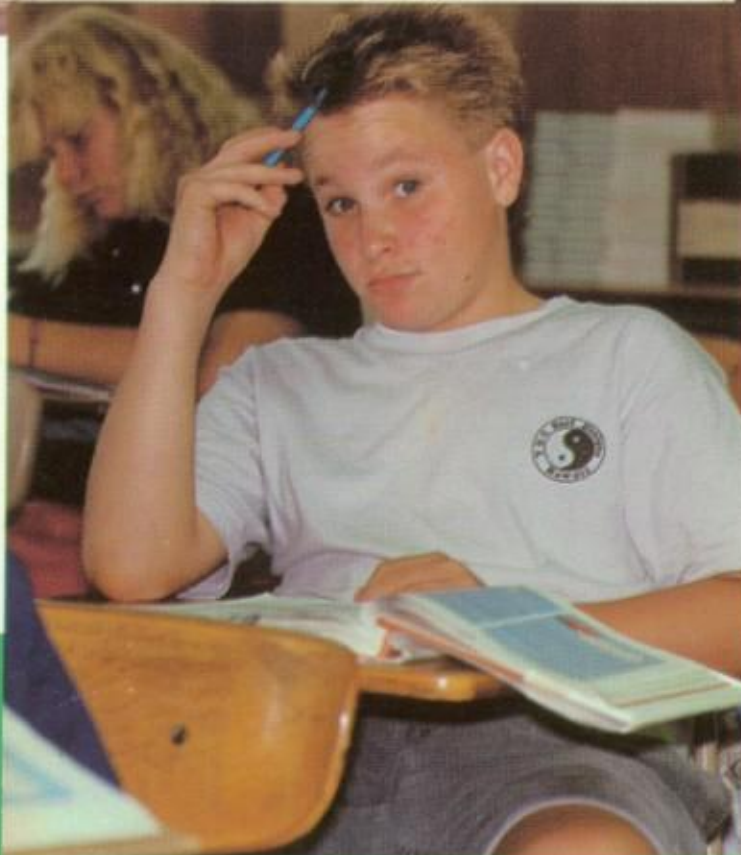

Hey Wray,
I no we were
not that close,
but you've been so sweet!
Well ♡

Running

eniors

Being Senior Editor of this years yearbook was a rewarding experience. Not only did it challenge me, it also made me realize what a unique and special class we are. We are all different, but we have come together, and hopefully we will stay this way, especially when "were off and running."

The class of 1988, not nearly a class of athletes, intellectuals, of soches, but rather a solid combination of them all. Their openness made them the perfect class to set a precedence of belonging among the Junior High students. They were able to conform with tradition, and yet also established themselves as modern and creative. This Senior class has left a subtle yet everlasting impression among the halls of Costa Mesa High.

1. Gee, Shane, can we please have some NAUGLES.
2. Just what is TOAD POWER? "Well, let me tell you..."
3. Cori Follick, Senior Editor.
4. "Extra, Extra, Infusino caught—"
5. Typical Seniors, in a typical pose.
6. Becky and Trish - Who is who.

Ditching Class The Seven Rules

- 1) Never allow Linda, Kirk, Skip or Mr. Utter see you on your way off campus.
- 2) Never let your parents answer the phone that evening, because it might be Mr. Utter's voice on the other end of the line. "This is the Dean of Students, your son or daughter has missed one or more periods..."
- 3) Never, no matter what it takes, let your teacher see you the same day you committed the crime.
- 4) Never park your car in the front row; this makes it impossible to make a clean escape.
- 5) Never forge a note; they'll catch you every time.
- 6) Never hold the Del Taco cup, or the D.K.'s bag while walking back on campus. (Dead Give-Away)
- 7) And never, never, ever let them see you sweat.

As seniors, we have all attempted to ditch class, at least once. (More likely, once a day!) And we all know these rules by heart.

Good Job, Paul.

Rules For Dating

Girls

- 1) Always answer the door before your father does.
- 2) Do not base the conversation on past romances.
- 3) Definitely wear a skirt, preferably a mini.
- 4) Never reply to the question,
"What do you want to do?"
with, "I don't know!"
- 5) Never let your guard down.
- 6) Keep a can of mace handy.
- 7) Do not give a kiss, unless you mean it.

Boys

- 1) Always open the car door for your date.
- 2) Be sure to have a wallet loaded with money.
- 3) Keep the cologne to a minimum.
- 4) Do not ask her, "What do you want to do?"
- 5) Try your hardest to keep your hands to yourself.
- 6) Always walk your date to the door, and give her a kiss before morning.
- 7) Never kiss and tell.

Jeff Huber

Thank you class of 88 for making my 9 months of California go by fast (kinda). Remember, if you ever down in Texas look me up I will be recovering from my senior year in "The Land Of Fruits and Nuts"

To have a car is to be a senior and to be a senior is to have a car. Almost every senior relies on their automobile. From a Civic to a Porsche to a Ford to a Volvo a senior is as good as his car moves. Not only does it need to move but it needs to cruise. Here is a list of the essentials in a senior's automobile:

- 1) fast food garbage in the back seat
- 2) radio/cassette player with blazing speakers
- 3) music cassettes all over the passenger's seat
- 4) school books and pencils on the floor of the back seat
- 5) mom's gas credit card in the glove compartment
- 6) your favorite radio bumper sticker on the bumper
- 7) yesterday's work out clothes in the back seat to add a fabulous scent
- 8) $10.37 in the ashtray . . all in pennies

 Theonesthat are great are the graduates of 88! It is time to step out and get our feet wet.
 Some will tiptoe some will jump But one way or another we will meet up with our elders. Someday down the road I hope to see a high school coligue of mine and say! Told you so at my Five year reunion all show

Senior Spirit Week!

SENIOR DWARDS-Emily Creely (HAPPY); Chris Drda (BASHFUL); Sherry Norton (SNEEZY); Diana Day (GRUMPY); Lisa Wynn (DOPEY); and Sue Nuechterlein (DOC). Paige Reitano took her share of the fun by playing the role of Snow White, while Craig Plitt stood by her side enacting Prince Charming. This handful of seniors enjoyed the halftime show frolicking upon the senior float.

This isn't the time nor the place, Charlene!

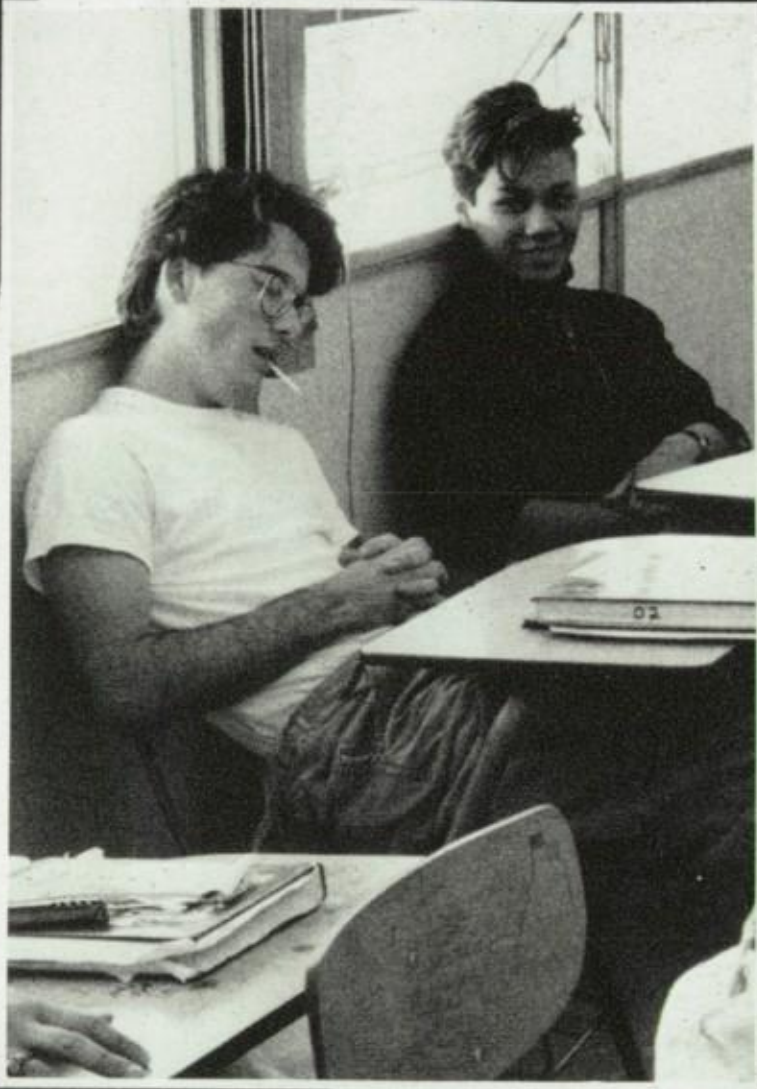

"Hang on everybody . . . here we go!!!"

How did he escape for the night?

Senioritis!

SENIORITIS (sen-yor-i-tis): A senior who experiences the loss of an inner drive which compels a student to achieve.

Warning Signs: One of the most obvious warning signs appears on the first report card of the senior year.

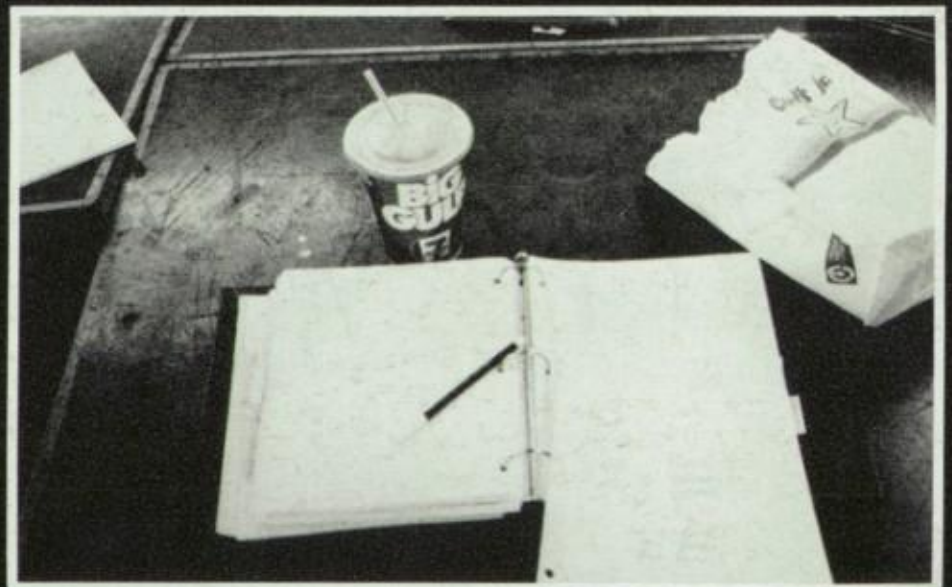

First Stage: The victim tends to postpone or even cancel the production of homework. He often arrives to class after the tardy bell rings. The carrier is induced into a state of sleep between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. as exhibited by Bill Sakaske in the photo.

Second Stage: As the disease begins to manifest itself, the student finds it easier to forgive his more than occasional late morning wake up call. Also, the victim's books never actually leave his locker.

Third Stage: At this point the victim experiences a complete withdrawal from school-related activities.

Cures: A day off from school spent at the beach will reduce the harshness of the disease, but, the the only proven cure for the ailment is graduation.

You Know
You're A Senior
When . . .

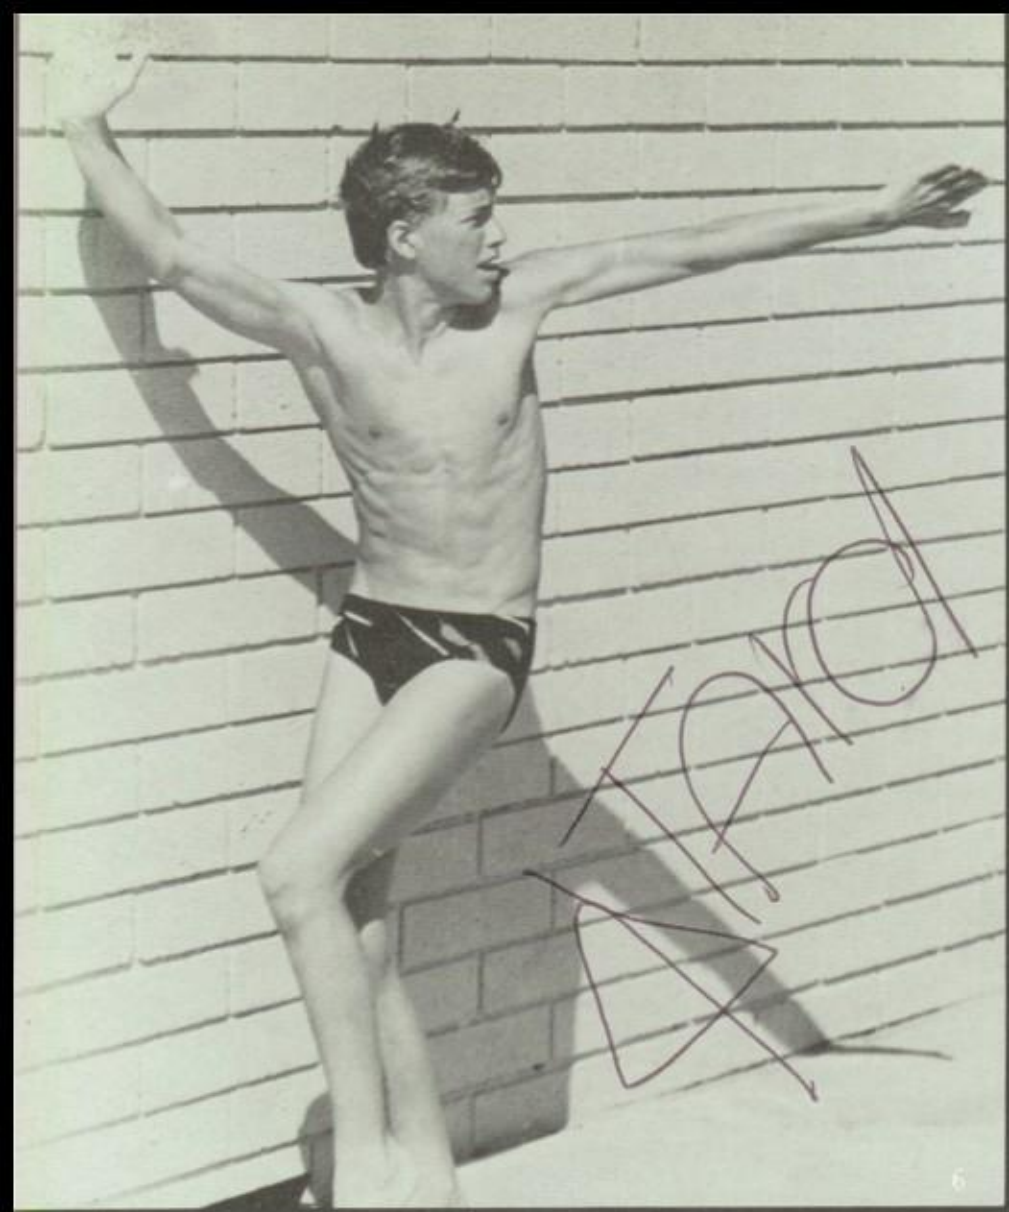

- 1) You have mastered all of your Teachers' signatures.
- 2) You think (or rather know) that you are smarter than your teachers.
- 3) You feel that seniors are the only upperclassmen.
- 4) You do not wake up until sixth period.
- 5) Your car becomes your locker.
- 6) You join 600 clubs just so it will look good on your transcript.
- 7) You don't have any real classes.
- 8) Your lunch seems to last longer on campus than off.
- 9) Your hall pass becomes a "class pass"

Upon entering the second year in our new league, the teams knew that this was the year to establish our position. Waterpolo certainly laid the ground well, while other teams fought with all their might. Usually these teams came up short of beating the one dominant school in the league, Woodbridge. some players were disappointed with this season, a reaction that should hold true only if they did not give their all to their school and their sport.

1. I've never been so happy in my whole life.
2. Tim shows off his taste buds to the crowd.
3. Intensity sets in-deep-real deep.
4. Mesa leads the pack, of what?
5. Aren't we missing something?
6. The pose that won the match.
7. The team practices tenacious defense.

9. Tony, The Wizard of Waterpolo.

Tricia and Paul, sports editors- more like prize fighters. Yet, they managed to create an amazing sports section. Day after day the staff listened to their quarrelling. The below picture captures the true entertainment value of this duo. The yearbook staff thanks both of you for your endless perils and laugh creating moments.

Sports

Varsity Football

The 1987-88 Varsity football team started off the season with optimism and high hopes of being league champions. The mustangs won their first game of the season by defeating archrival Estancia by the score of 32-7. While the Pacific Coast League remains one of the toughest in C.I.F. with powerhouses like Laguna Beach and Woodbridge, the mustangs had a chance. When league competition began, enthusiasm was running high. Some unfortunate injuries and bad mistakes contributed to a disappointing season. The mustangs lost five games by a field goal in which one or two plays could have turned those games around. In the game against Laguna Beach, who later went on to win league, the mustangs lost, within the last minutes, by the heartbreaking score of 17-14. The Varsity coach was once again Tom Baldwin. Coach Baldwin felt that they were a first rate team, but because they were young, starting eight underclassmen on offense, and had some unfortunate injuries, it proved difficult to turn all of their close games around. As Team Captain Kevin Day states, "Even though we had unfortunate injuries, we played together as a team, and fought til the very end". The Costa Mesa High Outstanding Players: Team Captains, Kevin Day and Tim McDowell; Most Valuable Player, Terry Bryant; Most Valuable Junior, Jim Hastie; Most Valuable Sophomore, Mike Webster; Most Inspirational, Jim Weissinger; Most Improved, Robert Dearborn; Best Lineman, Tim Felter; and Best Back, Terry Bryant.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL

The Junior Varsity Football Team was coached by John Carney. They achieved much success during the 1987-88 season, finishing with a record of 2-3 and placing a respectable third in league. During preseason, they played exceptionally well, easily defeating Santiago, Los Alamitos, and Katella. Although they did not win league, all team members worked hard and showed extreme dedication to the game of football. The boys' main goal was to strive for their full potential, which they did admirably well. The J.V. Team should feel proud, having never given up their goal to be the best they can be.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Strong determination and drive led the 1987-88 Freshman Football team to one of its best seasons. They had an outstanding year, finishing with an overall record of 8-2, league record of 4-1, and placing a well deserved second in the Pacific Coast. All season, the mustangs battled to win the Pacific Coast League Title. They played Orange High for the championship and were defeated by the score of 7-12. It was extremely difficult for the players to accept the loss, since they strove the entire season to be number one. The mustangs never gave up fighting and this will to succeed ranked them number one in other's eyes. The team coach was Neil Peek, a key figure who sparked the mustang fighters to victory. Outstanding players that had a major role in the team's success were Most Valuable Player, Tommy Nguyen; Most Improved, James Rodriguez; and Team Captain, Dubie Ospina. The future looks promising with these exceptional players continuing to J.V. and Varsity.

Varsity Waterpolo

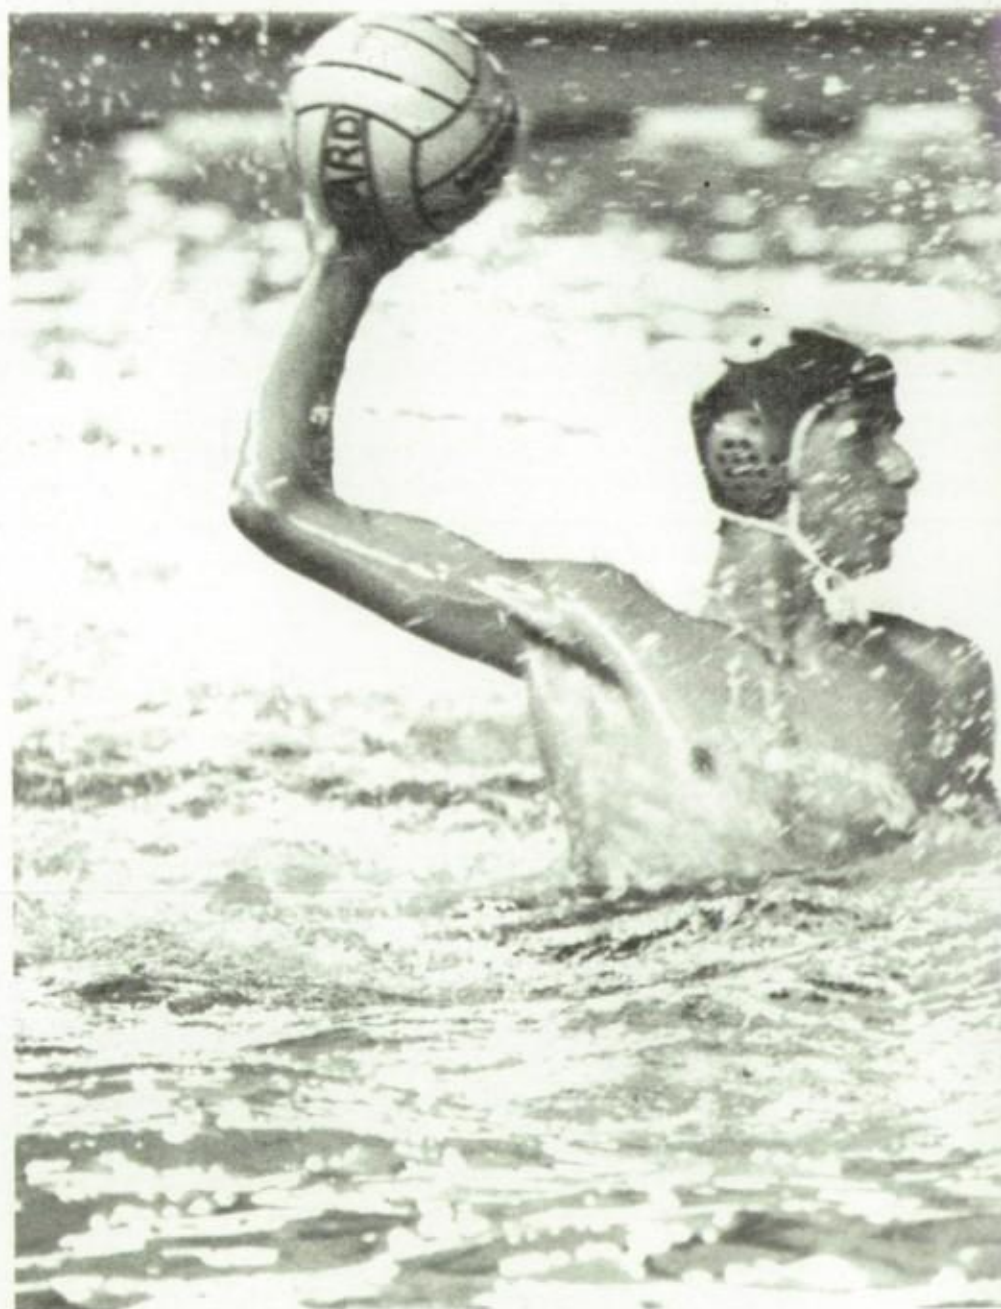

Awesome! That's the only word to describe the 1987-88 Boys' Varsity Waterpolo team. Undeclared in league, they won their second consecutive C.I.F. crown. With an overall record of 24-6 and eleven returning Varsity lettermen, there was no doubt who was the team to be feared. The Mustangs started off their season by easily defeating Laguna Beach 27-1. The teams in the Pacific Coast League were no match for our powerful Mustangs. They were ranked fifth in the county, under 4-A powerhouses Corona del Mar and Newport Harbor. Under the coaching of Tony Bell and Drew Maness the entire team played exceptionally well throughout the season. The team averaged 20 goals a game, and each player and championship experience. With returning All-Americans Shane Coons and Tony Litwak, there was no doubt who the C.I.F. 2A Division Champions would be. In the first round of C.I.F. competition, the Mustangs easily beat Chadwick by a score of 20-4. They went on to defeat Kennedy 17-10, El Rancho 17-13, South Pasadena 16-6, and finally Harvard High by the impressive score of 16-7. During C.I.F. play, the Mustangs broke two records. They were the only 2-A team to win two consecutive C.I.F. titles and they had the largest winning margin, nine goals. Many personal goals were reached and records were broken by players. Senior Shane Coons was named First Team All Pacific Coast League, All P.C.L. Most Valuable Player, First team All C.I.F., All C.I.F. Most Valuable Player, and the all-time number one scorer at Costa Mesa with 118 goals for the 1987-88 season. Seniors Tony Litwak and Mike Kennedy and junior Scott Taylor were named first Team All Pacific Coast League and First Team All C.I.F., while Devin Howell, Craig Plitt, and Steve Kunst received Second Team All Pacific Coast League honors. The following varsity team awards were presented: Shane Coons - Most Valuable, Kent Christensen - Most Improved, Craig Plitt - Most Inspirational, and Scott Taylor - Team Captain. When asked about his seniors, Coach Tony Bell said, "They're all really talented. To single one out would do injustice." Each team member contributed equally to the overall success of the team. The Varsity Team has accomplished what few have ever been able to do. Congratulations to the Costa Mesa Waterpolo Team for an outstanding season.

Looking in from the point

The 1987-88 Frosh/Soph Waterpolo team had an exciting year. In league, they placed second with a record of 4-1 and finished 12-6 overall. For the league championship, they played an intense game against Woodbridge, but unfortunately lost by one goal. Under the coaching of Tom Kennedy, the players gained experience and learned valuable fundamentals of the game. The Mustangs displayed much intensity and desire to win. With the talent and determination of this team, the future looks bright for the Costa Mesa High Waterpolo program. The following outstanding players were recognized: Corey Delahunt received Most Valuable, Most Improved went to Bao Nguyen, Roman Himmer was Most Inspirational, and Team Captain was awarded to Ervin Garcia.

Girls Varsity Volleyball

VARSITY GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

The Varsity Girls Volleyball Team entered the 1987-88 season with optimism and enthusiasm. With seven returning Varsity letterman, they anticipated much success. Under the coaching of Tomi Krenzie, the girls gained valuable knowledge and experience. Although the Pacific Coast League remains one of the toughest in C.I.F., three teams of which are ranked in the top ten, the mustangs came out fighting. The girls played an intense game against Orange, but narrowly lost with a heartbreaking score of 20-18. Their entire season was very similar to that game. Team Captains, Kim Jordan and Tracy Scofield, provided helpful encouragement and respectable leadership throughout the season. Both Emily Creely and Stacy White received the Most Improved award for their tremendous effort and dedication, while Denise Surmon gained the Most Inspirational award. Sherry Norton, Chris Drda, Carrie Cunnings, Carrie Paff, and Becky Bogart also contributed to the team's overall accomplishments.

J.V. GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

The J.V. Girls' Volleyball team had an outstanding season, holding a record of 6-4 and placing third in league. They were coached by Charles Cutenese, with Rainy Lentz as their manager. They started off the 1987-88 season by winning their first three games, but then lost to Woodbridge, the league champions, by two points. All the girls felt extremely good about the game, having given it all they had. Throughout the season the Mustang fighters showed dedication and an intense desire to win. They were led by Team Captain My-Ngoc Pham, whose outstanding performances also gained her the team's Most Valuable Player award. The Coach's Award went to Rose Nabong, while Shannon Austin and Jamy Thomas received Most Improved. The future looks promising for these outstanding players.

Boys Cross Country

Did you see an ugly girl, Pete?

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

The 1987-88 Boys Varsity Cross Country team had a season full of hardships. The team was comprised of four seniors, 1 junior, 1 sophomore, and 1 freshman. Unfortunately, they had no summer program to back them and first-year coaches, Mark Howard and Henry Medina, were employed late in the summer. Despite their late start and lack of depth, the boys fared well. Even though the mustangs record was not outstanding, they had some achievements. At several invitationals, the team showed a high level of potential and placed highly. At the Orange County Championships, Scott Palmer and Ruben Lozano showed endurance and determination to win. This will place them a well deserved fourth place in league. The mustangs were led by their Team Captain Ruben Lozano, who was also awarded Most Valuable Player, for his hard work and dedication, while Most Improved went to Tong Pravongvieng. The team was rounded out by Scott Palmer, Peter Ma, Tom Pipes, Harry Noonene, and Nam Lam, who all displayed much talent during league competition.

The boys Junior Varsity Cross Country was comprised of many young runners. For most of the team, this was their first year as serious competitors. Although their record was not outstanding (1 win-5 losses), they worked very hard and had many close meets. The team participated in several invitationals and gained much needed experience. The experience will help them tremendously as Varsity runners. The team consisted of Young Chang, Frank Keller, Nam Lam, Ken Hill, and Shane McLaughlin.

Even though they were small in size, this year's Freshman/Sophomore Team did well during league competition. They displayed great talent and the will to never give up. The boys had morning and afternoon workouts, usually running ten miles a day. Throughout all the tough practices and mental exhaustion, the mustang boys fought as a team. With the talent and determination on this team, the Cross Country program should become much stronger in future years. The team roster: Don Hein, Justin Yockel, Chris Chimenti, Simon Han, and Sean Stout.

VARSITY GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY

Led by first-year coach Victoria Kelly, the Girls' Varsity Cross Country team had many accomplishments in the 1987-88 season. They made vast improvements from the beginning of the season to the end. Morning workouts were held five days a week from 6:30 to 7:15. The girls average 8-10 miles of running a day. There were strong individual performances, with some of the girls breaking their own records and placing high in league.

In the tough Pacific Coast League the Mustangs came in a hard-earned fourth. The team was comprised of 8 runners: 2 seniors, 1 junior, 2 freshmen, and 3 sophomores. During league competition they displayed great talent and strong determination. At the Costa Mesa Invitational, out of 70 runners, Michelle Bryant and Karen Morris took 4th and 5th respectively. The team was led by the strong running ability of Team Captain Lisa Gale, whose outstanding performance also gained her Most Valuable Player. Jennifer Harader was awarded the Most Inspirational, while Most Improved went to Dawn Bernacchi. The rest of the team included Carol Hoang, Rachel Honeycutt, and Michaela Morgan.

J.V. GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY

The 1987-88 season was a great one for the J.V. girls' Cross Country team. With an overall record of 2-3, they placed fourth in league. They had the potential to come in second, but illnesses and injuries caused many setbacks. The Mustangs defeated Trabuco Hills and Orange but couldn't get past Laguna Hills, ranked first in league. At the Fountain Valley Invitational, the Costa Mesa girls came in third place. They showed extreme will and endurance. The positive outlook they possess will help them as Varsity runners. The team was headed by Most Valuable Player Monique Farmer, Team Captain Lisa Goertner, and Most Improved Ahn Tran. Other team members that contributed to the overall success were Nicki Thompson, Claudia Ojeda, Michiko Myomoto, Lily Myomoto, Michelle Briscoe, Geannie Price, and Dori Beeler.

Girls Varsity Tennis

VARSITY GIRLS TENNIS

Through the outstanding performances of its' team members, the 1987-88 Girls Varsity Tennis Team had one of it's best seasons ever. They finished with a 7-9-1 record, and had many achievements both overall and individually. The team consisted of eight seniors with years of experience backing them. Once again the powerful coaching of James Weeks was evident. The mustangs swept Trabuco Hills and Orange, but narrowly lost to the powerhouse Woodbridge with a socre of 7-11. All team members made great contributions, but some were recognized above the rest. Diana Day and Michelle Belacic, the number one Varsity Doubles Team and ranked eighth in league, captured Most Valuable Doubles Player for their outstanding play, while Tricia Harris, ranked seventh in league ended the season with a record of 33-18 which earned her Most Valuable Singles Player. The rest of the team included seniors Becky Poarch, Noelle Haddad, Julie Puckett, Lisa Wynn, Sue Nuechterlein, and sophomore Vera Belacic.

JUNIOR VARSITY TENNIS

The 1987-88 Girls J.V. Tennis Team had a successful year. Under the leadership of Coach Bob Hunter, the mustangs did extremely well. Their overall record was 12-7. They easily defeated Orange and Trabuco Hills, but came up short against Woodbridge, which placed the fourth in league. There were fourteen team members, and each one contributed to the team's success. Throughout the season, their positive attitudes and great expectations helped the team tremendously. The team was led by Amy Roldan, who earned Most Valuable Singles Player for her strong ability on the court, while Most Valuable Doubles Player were awarded to Claudia Dominguez and Cindy Nguyen. Their future as a Varsity team looks very promising.

Who has the ugliest face?

The Varsity Basketball team at the beginning of this year was looking forward to a C.I.F. birth, but due to lack of participation from good athletes the hopes were put down. But once the season got started, those athletes were forgotten and some good basketball players showed their stuff. Players like: All-league selection Paul Kos, who averaged 19.2 points a game and was the number two scorer in the Pacific Coast League; Greg Ertel, a power forward who averaged 10.8 points a game and whose overall play was noted, and Tim Felter, who dominated the boards both on offense and defense. Others who contributed to the team were Tim Nguyen (10.6) and Tuan Vu. Others who participated were Peter Ma, Clint Dieball, Matt Grant and Scott Snedeker whose play in practices helped the starters tremendously. Their overall record was 6-17 with 3 league wins.

JV Boys

This year's JV basketball team, led by first year coach Dean Cooper, did a fantastic job. They had the best record in the program going 8-8 overall and 4-6 in league play. They were lead by the inside play of Jose Casas and Steve Kunst. The team was in every game they played and were very competitive. They didn't look pretty sometimes getting the "W" but they did it and that's what counts. Next year's varsity should be in good hands with these young men moving up.

Jeff with the easy two.

This year's Sophomore team pulled a 5-15 overall record behind the inside play of Kevin Leahy and Justin Yockel and guard play of Hugh Nguyen and Bret Dieball. Two of the wins came from the sweep over Laguna Hills. They were coached by Don Ma.

Led by coach Kirk Bauermeister, the freshman basketball team pulled out a 5-5 league record to place third and 7-9 overall. A balanced attack led by all five starters was the key to victory. These talented freshman should do well as Sophomores.

The girls Varsity basketball team, with James Weeks at the helm, entered the 1987-88 season with C.I.F. playoff hopes, but that hope came to an end with a disappointing 37-30 playoff loss to Laguna Beach. They finished the season by coming in tied for third with a 5-5 league record and 6-17 overall. The overall record was deceiving because the Varsity team played tough competition, like C.I.F. Champions El Toro and Mission Viejo. Underclassmen led the team, with Mo Moore and Kim Good at the head of the pack. Height was a major problem this year, with Sue Nuechterlein being the tallest player at 5' 10". Because of the significant lack of height, the three point line was used by the lady mustangs. They averaged more points from behind the three point line than underneath the basket. Gunners from behind the line were Vanessa Henderson, Kim Good, and Dawn Hoffman. As Coach Weeks put it, "We shot better from three point range than inside six feet." As the team players learned this year, when you shoot bad, it's hard to win.

Nice form Mo, but where's the ball?
Unbelievable, Tricia made her lay-up.

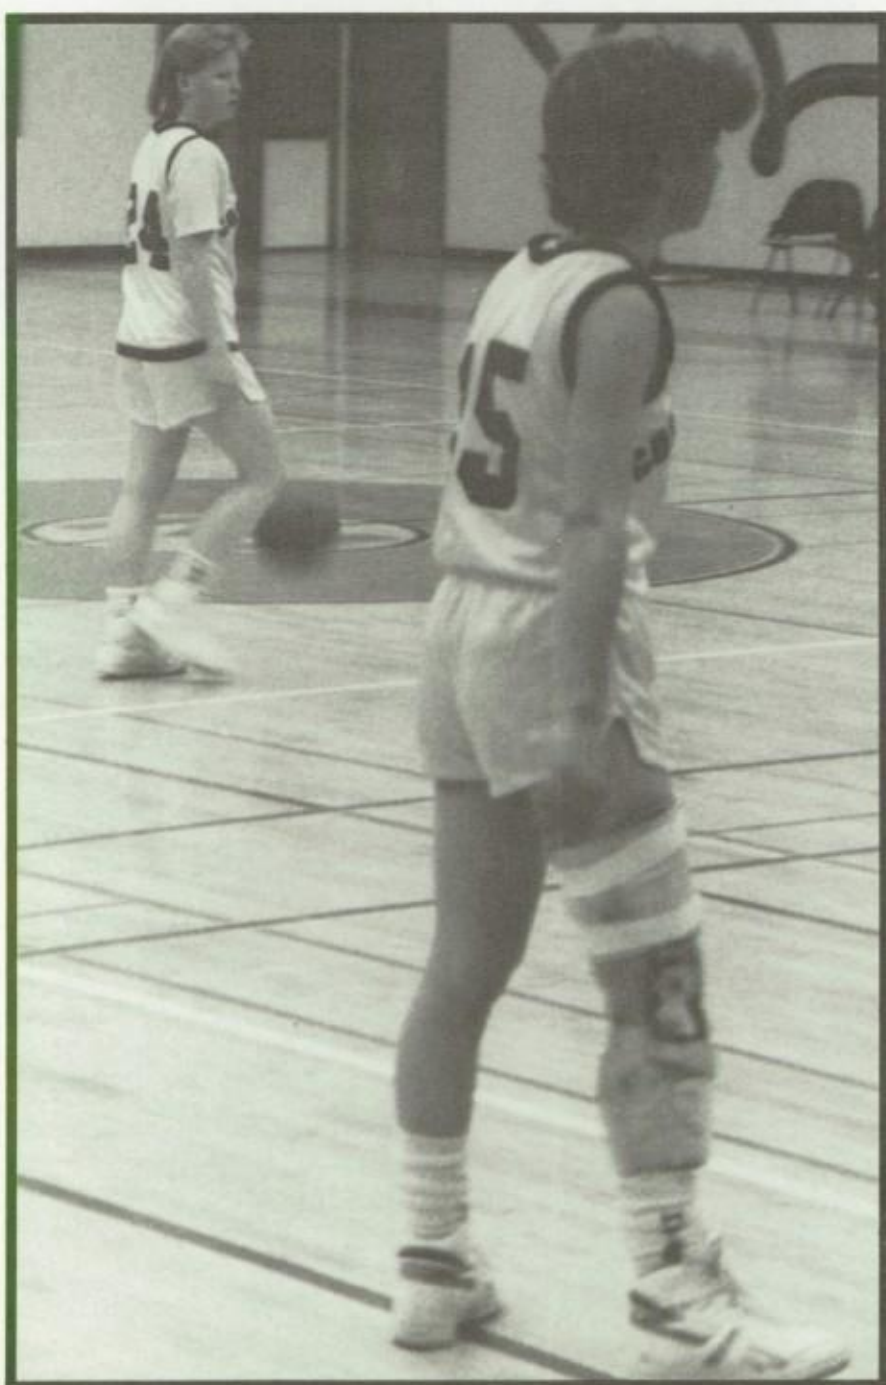

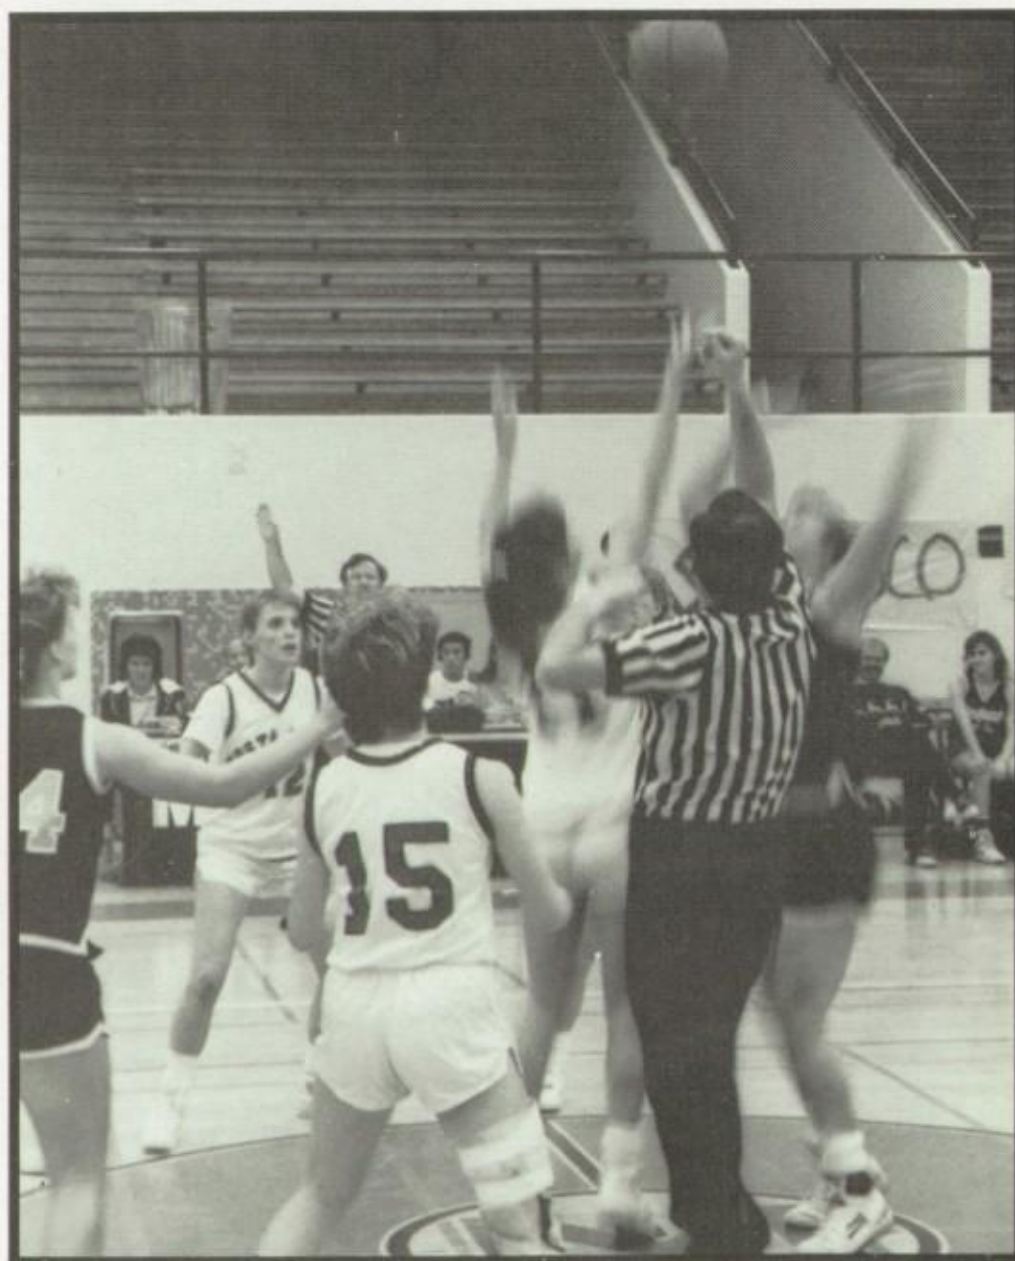

Will it go in or will it go out? That is the question.

Vanessa, your passes are just too fast for the human eye.

Come on girls, don't look so lost.

Get ready Mo, here it comes.

Girls Basketball

The 1987-88 girls J.V. basketball team had a remarkable season- taking a record of 10-0 and placing first in league. They started off the season by easily winning their first three games against Laguna Beach, Woodbridge, and Trabuco Hills. Surprisingly, they had no returning players. Shannon Austin and Leann Ma led the way with their aggressive play under the basket, while freshman point guard Rachel Thomas kept Mesa's offense under control. All team members worked very hard, with a goal of being league champions. They did not let us down, but carried on the tradition of winning the Pacific Coast League title undefeated, now for the fourth consecutive year.

Led by Coach Pat Leahy, the girls Freshman/Sophomore team yet again had an excellent season. With much team spirit and determination to win, the girls proved to be a tough competitor. They played Varsity, J.V., and Freshman teams alike. Respectively, they ended the season with a 6-5 league record. They never lost the desire to win. With thirteen freshman players and no returning players, this ranking is even more astonishing. All team members were very dedicated and equally contributed to a successful season.

Varsity Soccer

The varsity soccer team at the beginning of the season knew what they were up against not having won a league match in two years. That was all to change on February 3, 1988 when the Mustangs, behind a team effort, gave coach Pierre Allegre, his first league win ever with a 2-1 decision over Woodbridge. Led by Ceasar Zamarripas, 16 goalie saves, and Matt Martineze's winning goal, they pulled out the victory. The tough defense of Doug Smith and the offensive attack of Ryan Giles and Jason Trask also contributed greatly. As a fan and onlooker of the team, I believe they played an exciting, physical brand of soccer which was enjoyed by those who watched. Their overall record was 2-18.

JV Soccer

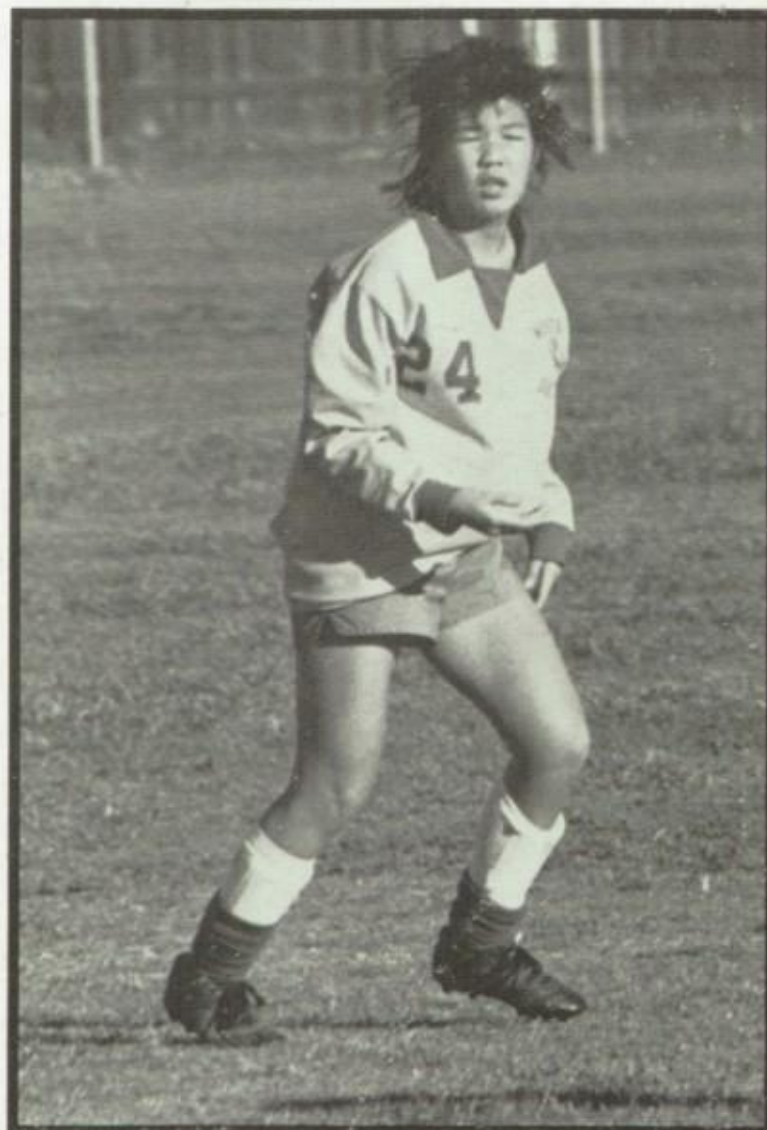

Led by coach Bill Smith, the JV Soccer team had a tough year. They started out the season with a 4-1 record before the team suffered from several setbacks. They lost five players to transferring or getting moved up the varsity team. As a consequence, they only won two more games the remainder of the year. Coach Smith said, "If we hadn't lost those players, we would have had a chance."

Wrestling

Despite the extreme lack of members, the Costa Mesa High Wrestling team won its first dual meet in three years. The Mustang grapplers defeated Trabuco Hills High School by a score of 33-36. However, it was the only dual meet the team won this year.

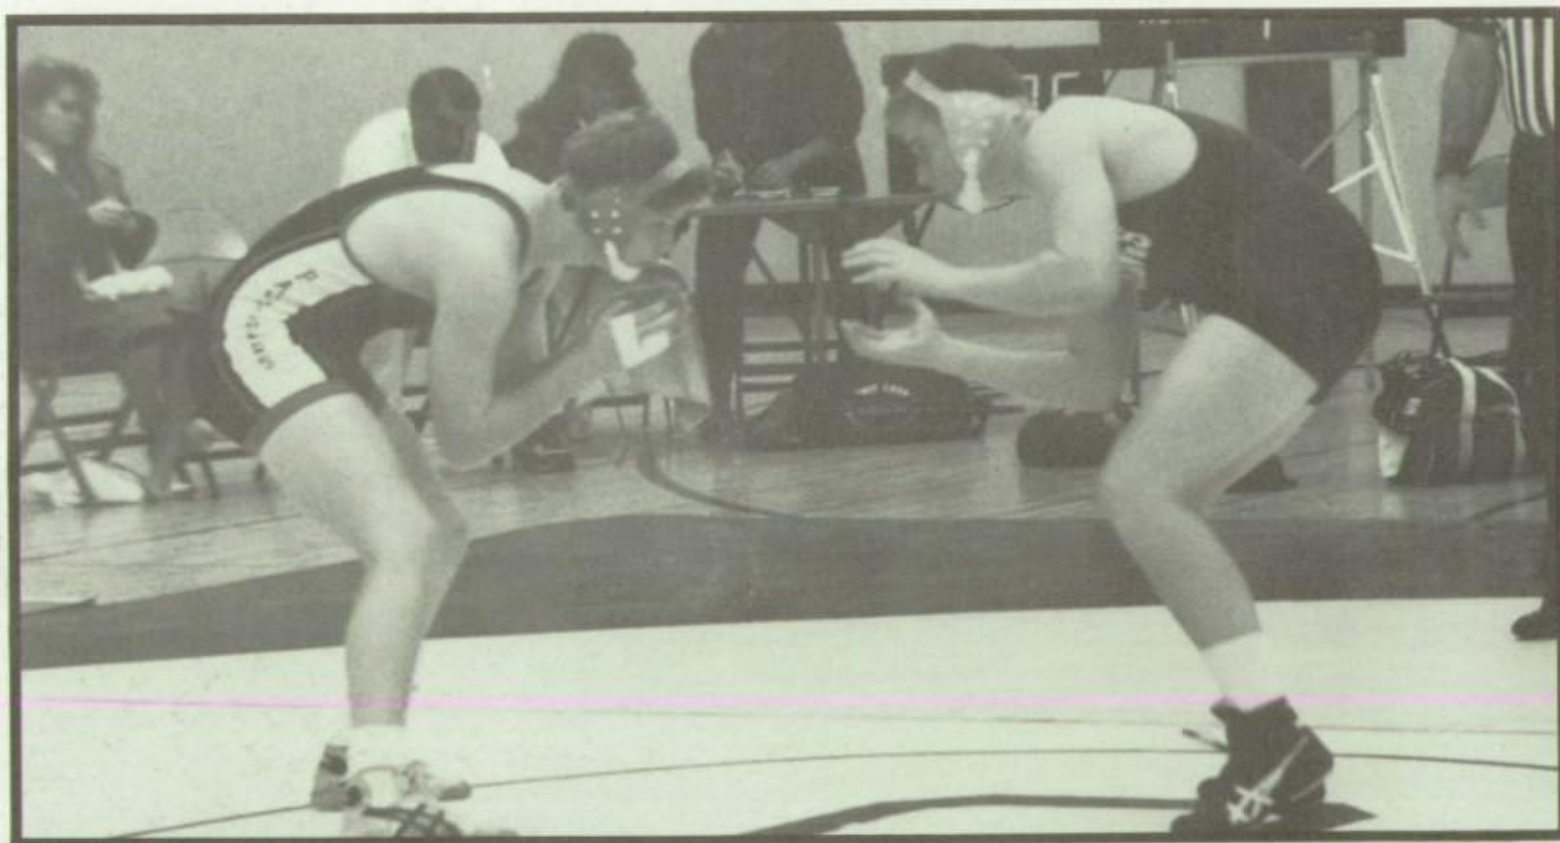

The team faced many setbacks throughout the year. Their biggest problem was the lack of experienced wrestlers on the squad. The team had only one senior and two juniors. Another significant setback was that many of the team members quit due to personal reasons, which hurt the team's chances to effectively compete against other schools.

At the league championship tournament only two Mustangs placed. Chris Brex took third place while Team Captain Chris Seeber took second and thus earned the right to compete in the C.I.F. tournament.

As for the J.V. team, standouts included John Valencia and Steve Mellinger, who each placed second at their respective weights — 115 and 175.

After a great start, the Costa Mesa baseball team hopes this will be the year they win their first Pacific Coast League title. The team is led by seventh year Coach Kirk Bauermeister, who expects to do well in his second year in the Pacific Coast League. The team is led by senior first baseman, Greg Ertel, who led the team in hits and was selected as a second team all P.C.L. The pitching staff is led by ace, left-hander Scott Snedeker, who was off to a good start this season. Other standouts on the team include senior and team captain Mike McAleer, seniors Justin Reyes and Scott Siler, juniors Deron Mashburn and Huy Kieu, and sophomore Mike Cutler. The team was dealt a severe blow, however, with the loss of senior Paul Davis, who earned all P.C.L. honors as a junior, and led the team in batting average. The team hopes and expects to do well this year, as Coach Bauermeister says, "The team is filled with hard workers and a lot of talented players. We will do well this season."

The JV baseball team boasts a team consisting of several veterans. Rich Schones, David Salladay, and Andy Grant are all back on a team that almost won league last year. New faces on the team who will contribute are Jeff Omaye and Hyah Nguyen. Co-coaches, Matt Shaffer and Sean Watson, take a team into league play that will compete for the league championship.

The girls softball team is full of hopes for the 1987-88 season. They are off to a great start, with two victories over Newport Harbor 27-11 and Corona del Mar 19-10. All team members are certain that they will do well in league, especially since they have talented players and solid pitching, with sophomore Tammy Moore and senior Shannen Leahy. Their main goal for the season is to place third and participate in the California Interscholastic Federation (C.I.F.) tournament, which no Mesa team has done in the past eleven years. To reach this goal, the girls practice daily from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., practicing hitting and working on their tough defense. The Mustang girls feel that they are a strong enough team to make playoffs, as does their head coach Jim Weeks, saying, "It's the most talented softball team in five years. They are solid at every position-including pitching. I have realistic expectations that they will make the playoffs." The team should be led by seniors Tricia Harris, Diana Day, Vanessa Henderson, and juniors Kim Good and Shannon Austin.

Boys Tennis

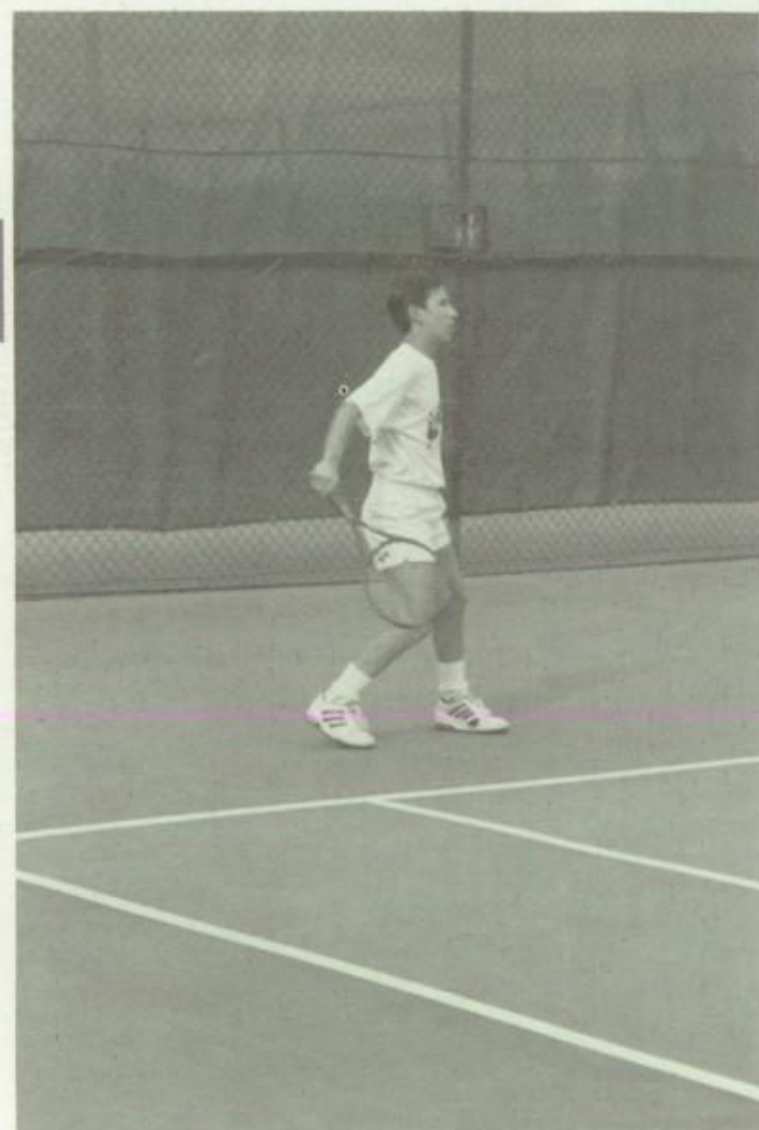

The boys Varsity and Junior Varsity tennis teams are off to a great start with a pre-season record of 3-1. Each day they are coming closer to obtaining their ultimate goal of a third place finish in league, so that they may attend C.I.F. Their chances look good, especially with the singles players consisting of returning junior letterman Justin Zillman (Number one singles player), Young Chang, and Pat Do. Although the doubles teams are led by less experience, they have great potential. The only senior, Hiep Quach, with Khoa Nguyen, Kien Le, Thien Nguyen, Vinh Dinh, and Tim Do make up this portion of the team. With determination, this young Mesa team should have a very successful future ahead of them.

Track

With the loss of some exceptional athletes, the boys and girls track team have a difficult season ahead of them, but they believe they can overcome the odds. As head coach John Carney said, "We may start off slow but the team as a whole has great potential and may do well near the end of the season." The Mesans have gained confideoe and are looking foward to a promising season. They showed their true desire by easily defeating Magnolia High School 69-55. The boys weight team is led by Jim Weissinger, Sean McMillan, and Robert Dearborn. The sprinters are led by seniors Matt Grant and Terry Bryant, who should do well in the 440 and 220 meter races, as well as Manny Bonilla in the 100. Junior David Burnell is expected to break some school records in the hurdles. Craig Cleaver is the exceptional athlete in the pole vault. Bill Wettengel is coaching the girls to what he believes will be a new C.I.F. birth. The 100 and 200 meter races are dominated by freshman Daniel Coleman. In the hurdles division, Denise Surmon lead the crew followed by Staci Emerson and Carrie Cunnings. Michelle Bryant, Sherry Poin-dexter, Cathy Halley, and Renee Updegraft help out in the middle to long distance races. Juniors Dori Beeler and Heather Feld are the new hopefuls in the shot-put and discus. With the strong determination that both teams possess, success is in the near future.

Swimming

The tough butterfly stroke

Like earlier in the year, Drew Maness and Tony Bell are co-coaches. This time, they're coaching a very talented boys swim team. Last year the Mustangs were league champions, and everyone this year is favoring them to repeat. The boys had a disappointing loss early in the season, but as senior Craig Plitt states, "That loss just makes us more determined to win." The team practices every day after school and on Saturday mornings. Their team unity and strong desire has made the Mesa swim team one of the best, and the yearbook sports staff wishes them luck on a great year.

Varsity Volleyball

Spike!

The 1988 varsity volleyball team could be in for a long season. This could be attributed to the fact that they have only one player over six feet. With first year coach, Keith Wynce, at the helm, the Mustangs are out to build a future. The Mustang's big games are against Orange and Trabuco Hills — teams they should beat. The other two teams in the Pacific Coast league, Woodbridge and Laguna Beach, are ranked 3rd and 4th in the county. In the past, the volleyball program has been lacking in coaching but with the emergence of Coach Wynce that should all change.

The JV volleyball team will enter this year's season with high hopes. As Junior Tom Egan states, "This year is going to be different. We're going to win and at least go five hundred". If Egan's predictions are right, the team will be ecstatic. Its been a while since a JV volleyball team did well and this year's team should change all that. They practice every day from 4 to 6 pm and challenge each other in scrimmages.

Badminton

THE COSTA MESA HIGH SCHOOL BADMINTON TEAM

The badminton team, seeded fourth in C.I.F., is expected to dominate the Sea View League. For the past two years, they have been co-Sea View League champions with Estancia High School. The team's main goal for the 1987-88 season is to beat Estancia and claim sole possession of the championship title. As senior Nam Lam said, "Hopefully we will beat Estancia so we can be league champs instead of co-champions." The team consists of girls and boys singles, doubles, and mixed doubles. They post strong players in every position. With tough pre-season matches, the team should be ready to excel during league competition. The Varsity team should be led by senior Nam Lam, Souk Somsavath, Jin Kim, Tong Pravongvieng, and Thu Tin. Standouts for the girls include Vanessa Cao, Pam Cottom, Eun Ih Kim, Eun Joo Lee, and Lisa Wynn, who are all expected to attend the California Interscholastic Federation (C.I.F.) tournament.

Spiritleaders

This year's Pep Squad tried something new . . . Spiritleading. This is a combination of Song and Cheer. All three squads showed their talent at camp where they won many trophies and a spirit award. Their immense talent was shown at rallies and half-time routines. They helped support the teams, not only with cheers but also with "goody bags."

The girls who made up the frosh squad showed great talent. It consisted of six girls who were bursting with freshman pride.

Junior Varsity proved how talented they were by supporting their team. Only two members had been on the squad before, but the other four added much to their teammates.

The enthusiastic girls of Varsity shined in their performance on and off the field. The girls showed enthusiasm in their gymnastics and stunts. The squad had much experience between them; four are returning from Varsity and three came from last year's frosh cheer and one from JV. As for the other two, they were new to CMHS as spiritleaders.

All squads have displayed their spirit and pride. Their talents are overwhelming, and we will be looking forward to see them improve more over the years!

This year's golf team has lost its first three matches but is hoping to make a comeback in league play. As senior, Scott Palmer states, "It's not all fun and games on the course. This is serious competition." Led by the coaching of Jim Hagey and Mauricio Clorey the team is improving. There are only two seniors on the varsity squad so the room for improvement is great on next year's team. The JV team, which was undefeated last year, is off again to a good start this year. They've won their first two matches and have another chance of going undefeated. The team practices at the Costa Mesa Golf Course everyday from 2:30 to 5 p.m. The golf team includes Ryan Encinas, Peter Ma, Steve Melinger, Steve Musil, Aaron Milstien, Scott Palmer, Mike Palincar, Paul Kos, and Bob Armstrong.

We have all heard the advertisements "Try our new economy size" and "Even bigger than before". The reasons for these boasts is that quantity is important.

With the increase in staff came a "togetherness" and excitement that had been absent from Mesa. New clubs were started and most important ideas circulated. A medium was reached that not only encouraged students, but provided a foundation filled with a sense of belonging. Therefore, quality must not always take precedence over quantity.

1. Class, please be quiet. It's been a long day. 2. I'm sorry Scott, that just won't do. 3. One question Ms. McKown- Where's the wee fish? 4. May I have this dance? 5. The princess and the toad. 6. Newlyweds, what a couple! 7. Kaelyn Kutch, Faculty Editor.

Being the Faculty Editor of the 1988 Round-Up was hectic. Besides trying to schedule a photographer for over 150 pictures, I had to write copy that captured the interest of the school.

In order to obtain facts about teachers I sent out over 100 surveys. Working with these responses and personal interviews, I was able to construct a mini high-school bio.

Despite warnings from past editors, I put off much of my work until the last minute. This decision I regreted later, and now I warn those of you on staff next year. Being part of the yearbook staff has been a great learning experience.

Sincerely,
Kaelyn Kutch

Generally, the teachers at Mesa are pretty happy, but when asked, most of the teachers had something they wished they could change here. Some wanted shorter classes, others wanted more classes in certain subjects. One faculty member wanted to change the school colors. How about pink and purple?

Someday Mesa will be perfect for everyone, but until then, keep pushing for perfection.

Mr. Neumeyer went to Costa Mesa High School in the 1970's. During those years, Mesa was an experimental high school. No off campuses were needed, it was kind of like college. The future "Dr. N." spent his time out on the field playing Beatles songs on his guitar.

Mr. N. had many of his co-workers as his teachers. He said the only teacher who gave him trouble was Mr. Surmon, only because he had long hair though.

After subbing for a while, he was given a permanent job at his Alma Mater. During his second year here, Mr. N. met Miss McMillian and they married last summer.

Brent Neumeyer became a teacher because he likes working with young people.

A Typical Day

A teacher's day starts at about 7:30, when he or she arrives at the doors of school. They rush to the office to pick up the daily roll sheets and a hot cup of coffee.

When the tardy bell rings, the teacher has the fun job of taking roll, collecting re-admits, and marking tardies, all at the same time. When all that important stuff is done, they assign work. At least five kids will ask for the pass during the period, and four will get to use it.

When the bell rings, everyone is waiting and the teacher is free!

Costa Mesa High's back-to-school night was held on Monday, November 23, 1987. The parents of all the students met in the gym to talk about their child's progress in the class.

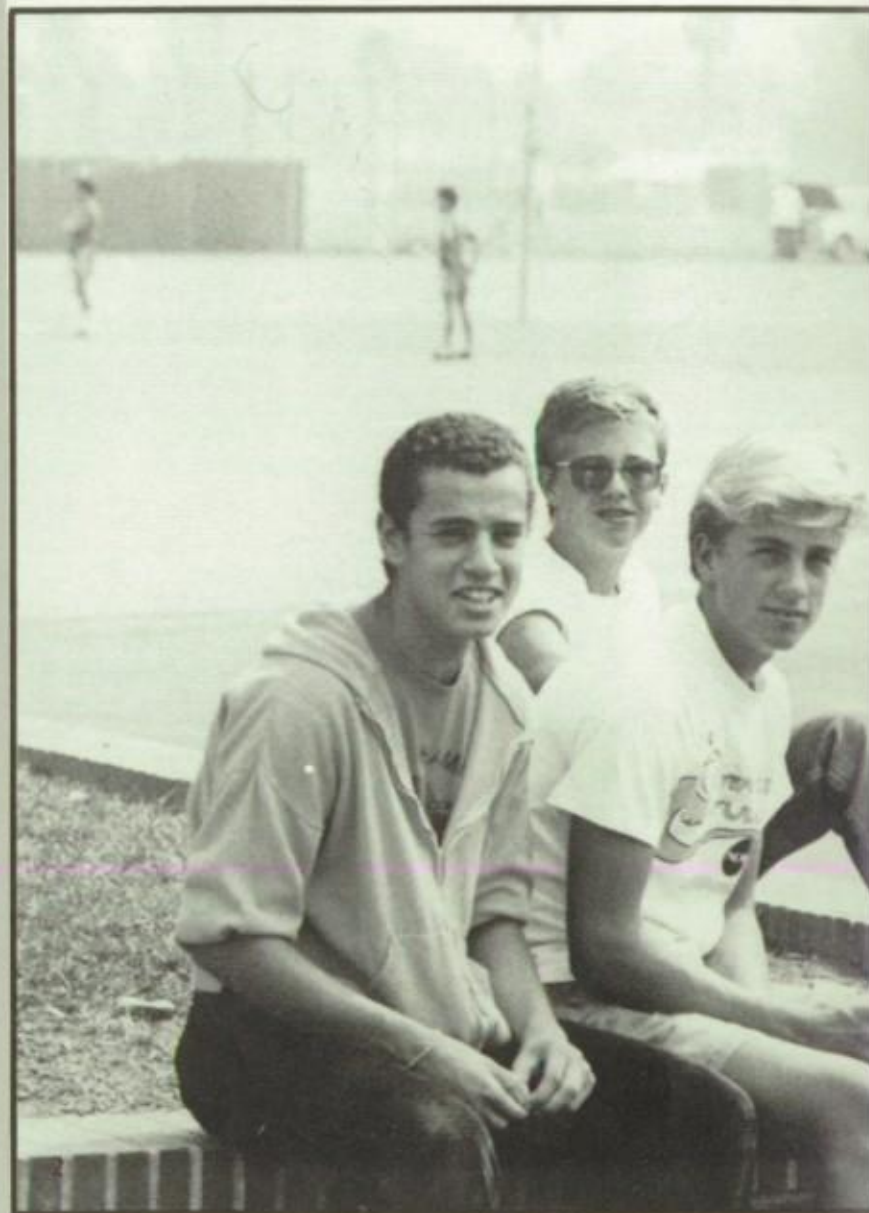

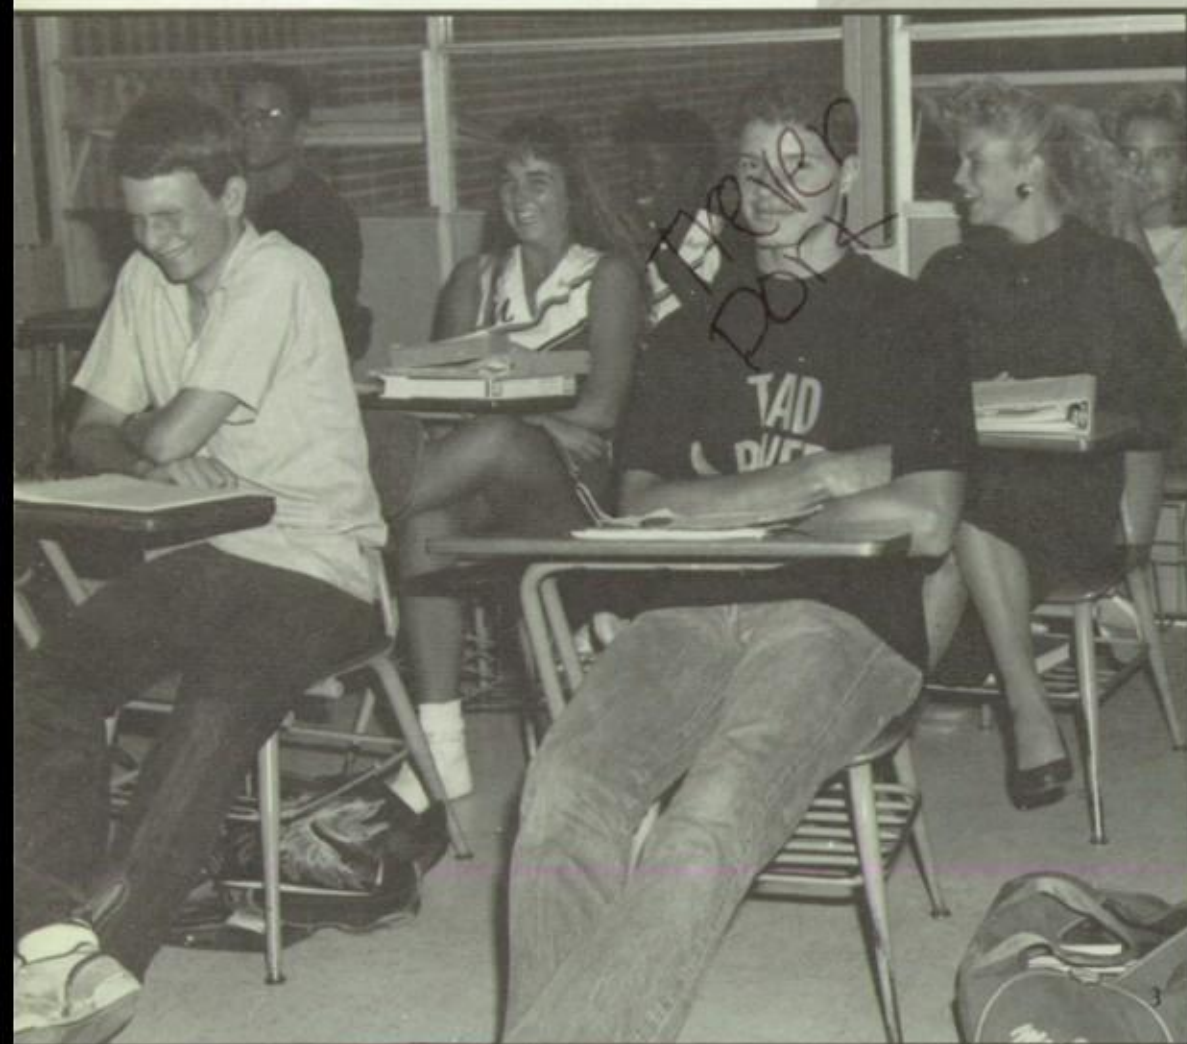

The candid pictures on this page show some of the teachers on this night, the night you received your grades for the first nine weeks of this past year.

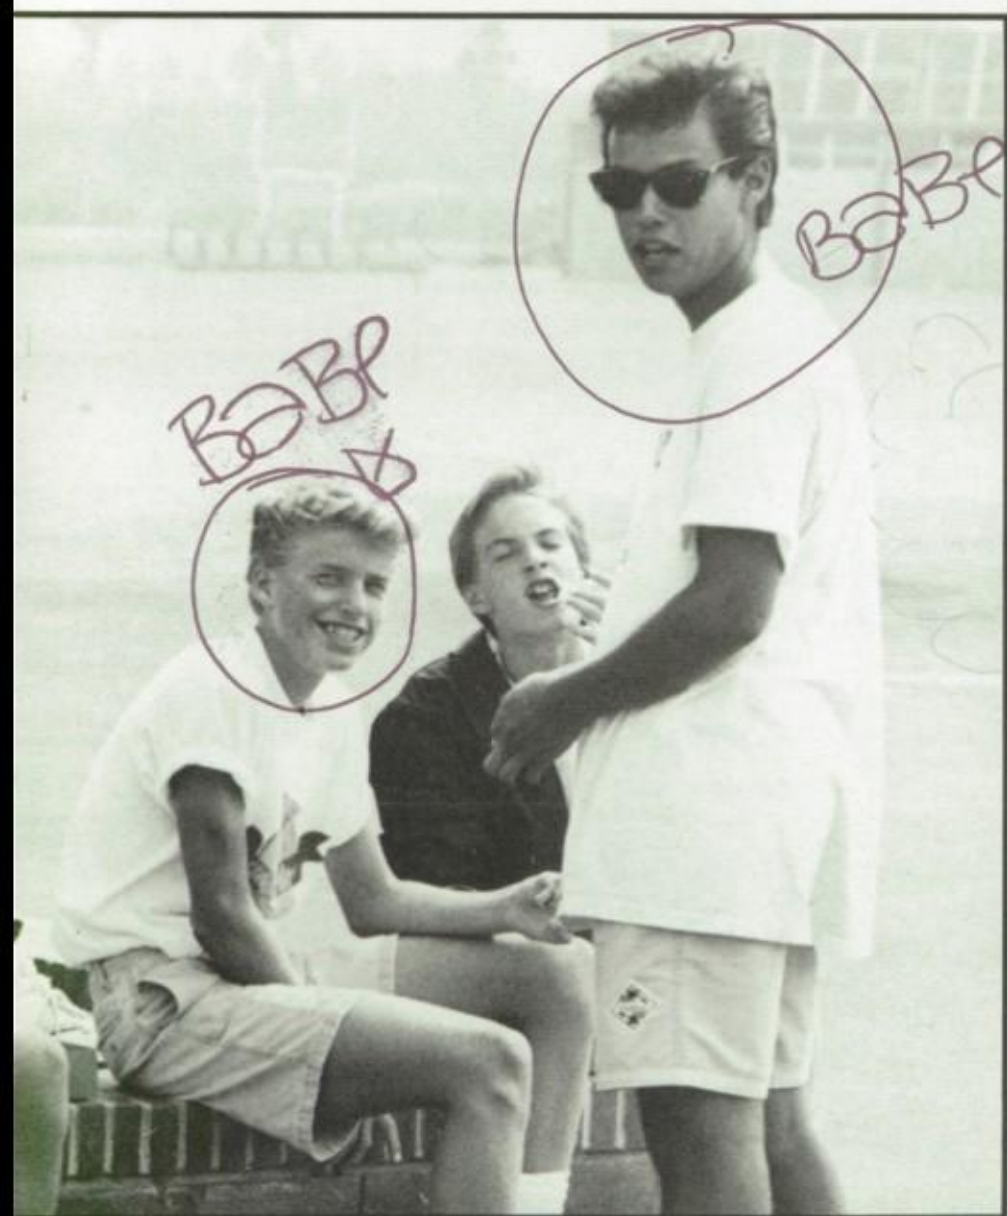

A tie on Stoia?

This year, with the addition of two more classes the Underclass section truly represents all varieties of individuals. The year started with many mixed feelings among the classes, yet they were able to pull together and endure perhaps one of the most challenging years for Mesa. Adjustments were made by all; however, the impact that was expected never surfaced. The Junior High harmonized just as they do on these pages. In fact the most noticeable difference was the crowded hallways and added bells.

1. The Breakfast Club.
2. Lunch at the corner of Brick and Ant Central.
3. Oh, Ray, you sly toad you.
4. I always feel like somebody's watching me.
5. The secret behind Mesa Pride, the class of 1989.
6. Underclass Editors- Sheree King, Thu Tin, Christina Metoyer, Kristy White, Anthony Gilmore, Michelle Johnson.

UNDERCLASS

The Underclass section was especially challenging this year. The incorporation of the seventh and eighth grade students into the yearbook went smoothly but required more work for our staff members.

In order to get input from the Junior High, we spoke to the representatives from both grades. They helped identify and select candid pictures and kept us informed of activities and events. We appreciate their help and are pleased with the results of our combined efforts.

We hope that the following sections not only cater to all involved, but represent each class as the individuals that they are.

Presenting Our Favorite Excuses For Late Homework and Tardies

Excuses, Excuses. Students constantly come up with good (and not so good) reasons for not turning in homework and a host of other problems. Below are some of the best (and worst) excuses compiled from talking to teachers and students.

Excuses for not turning in homework:

My puppy chewed it up.
My mom thought it was trash and threw it out.
I was in the Library, studying, and I left it in a book.
It was in the trunk of the car.
I'm a senior!
I had too much homework.
I made a paper airplane and it got hijacked!

Excuses for being tardy:
The hall was too crowded
My locker was jammed.
I had to run back to my locker to get my work.
I was kept after in my last class.
It's too far away.
I went to lunch.
I overslept.
I ran out of gas.
I locked my keys in the car.

"I wish she was mine forever."

Thanks for the flower, we deserve it.

16 REASONS TO HATE MONDAYS

Everybody hates Mondays - from the student who procrastinates on his homework down to the famous cartoon character, Garfield. There are countless reasons why this day of returning to school strikes fear and grief into the hearts of many.

- It's the only day that teachers are crankier than usual.
- You haven't finished your homework.
- You are unaccustomed to waking up early.
- The weekend is over.
- You have to face the people who saw you at the party Saturday night when you weren't quite yourself.
- Everything that was fun during the weekend is over.
- You have to face the problems that you postponed on Friday.
- You have to start thinking again.
- You have no money left from your weekend spending sprees.
- While you were grounded over the weekend your special somebody found somebody new.
- There are five days left until the weekend.
- There are nearly 400,000 seconds until the weekend.
- It's the only day of the week when you have major assignments due in all your classes.
- Monday is always the only day you ditch all year and your teacher takes roll.
- It's usually a Monday when you're running late, you get a speeding ticket from OFFICER KUTCH, the traffic turning into school is backed up to Adams and you drop all your books and papers as you race to class, already 10 min. tardy.
- Most suicides occur on Monday ... unless it's a three-day weekend.

Students Protest

Today, students in Mrs. X's Sophomore English class protested against the assigning of further homework; one such student commented, "We have had it up to here with her and her homework." The leader of this protest announced that the group would not do homework until their standards had been met. THE ROUND UP discussed this with the club's secretary, Paula King. "We ask that Mrs. X assign less homework, give us time to do our work in class and that she not assign homework on weekends and holidays." There has yet to be a decision made.

Freshmen Guide To High School

DO know where the bathrooms are on the first day of school.
 DO join activities.
 DO respect upperclassmen.
 DON'T talk to upperclassmen, but DO listen to them.
 DON'T try to act older than you are.
 DO be yourself: immature, & crazy.
 DO try to impress teachers, but DON'T show off in front of a Senior.
 DON'T gossip about others.
 DO all your homework.

DON'T hang around school after school.
 DO go straight home to your mommy.
 DO carry all your books in a backpack.
 DO get to class on time.
 DO bring a brown lunch bag and stay for lunch. (You have no other choice.)
 DON'T leave a mess after lunch.
 DO remember you are in high school now. It is time to show responsibility.

A Typical Day Of A Freshman

6:30 a.m.	Alarm rang. Went back to sleep.
7:00 a.m.	Finally woke up. Brushed teeth, washed face, and changed clothes.
7:30 a.m.	No time to eat breakfast. Had to ride a bike to school.
8:00 a.m.	Had to run to first period. Didn't want another tardy. Had Woodshop.
9:00 a.m.	Had boring English. Wrote poetry.
10:00 a.m.	Had Spanish. Read a book for twenty minutes, and talked in Spanish.
11:15 a.m.	Had Pre-Algebra. Got sent out of class for not doing homework.
12:16 p.m.	Time for lunch. Stayed at school, and only stayed around Freshman.
1:00 p.m.	Had World History. Nothing interesting happened.
2:00 p.m.	Had wrestling practice. The best part of school.
3:05 p.m.	Rode the bike home. Stayed home and watched cartoons till 5:00 p.m.
5:00 p.m.	Ate dinner that mom microwaved.
6:00 p.m.	Watched some more television.
9:00 p.m.	Did homework while listening to music.
10:00 p.m.	Way passed bed time. It is time to go to sleep, so went to sleep.

The "Perfect Teacher"

The eighth grade students have their own version of a "perfect teacher." When asked to describe an ideal teacher, they came up with an interesting combination.

The "perfect teacher" Should be into surfing and skating, use slang words such as "dude," "man," "mellow out," and "chill out;" have a good sense of humor; frequently laugh and tell jokes; encourage wild behavior; throw nerf balls to get students' attention; allow students to run around the class; organize activities and sports such as food fights and water fights; give lots of pizza parties; supply food every day; have a stereo in class; chew gum; allow students to go barefoot; relate to students on their level; accept bribes, and be blind and deaf.

This is an artists reconstruction of a "perfect teacher."

I wake up in the morning, it's already eight
Hearing mom's voice, "Honey-your late!"
Running out the door, I grab my sack
lunch Yelling back to mom-"Tape Brady Bunch!"
During the day I walk through the halls,
Snapping girls bras and shooting spit balls
I make it through lunch without much trouble
But during 5th I get caught blowing bubbles
I get to practice after school,
I see some seniors, they look so cool
I get thrown in the locker, a daily routine
They make baby noises-what does this mean?
As I ride home from school, I smile with glee
It's their time now, but it's mine in 1993!

The activities section is a section considered by most to encompass only clubs at Mesa. In truth, however, these pages represent every aspect of social life through the school, including clubs, dances, and in short memories. Students can refer to this section for years to come to recall the "fun" events of their high school years. It is hoped that these pages may be enjoyed by all rather than catering to a select few.

1. Tim walks away with the grand prize.
2. Hey mom, look it's me, it's really me.
3. Drama has a slumber party.
4. Jamie and Kim(Scared any walls lately?)
5. The hills were alive with the sounds of music.
6. One, two, three- quiet I'm trying to count!
7. Becky Poarch, Activities Editor?

Activities

MESA

Working with the staff, faculty, and students has made my year as activities Editor more rewarding than I had imagined. I not only learned how to deal with pressure and deadlines, but realized the responsibility involved in such a production. The planning and time involved is much greater than one realizes and can lead to a great deal of stress. I hope everyone at Mesa enjoys this section and can look back and remember some great moments.

Sincerely,
Becky Poarch

Homecoming

The Homecoming Week, planned by Activities Director Kari Richards, was a big success. Lunch-time competitive activities were set-up for all to participate in. "Senior Spirit Week" was also a part of Homecoming each day the Seniors dressed in a different theme.

On Thursday, October 29, during the Homecoming football game halftime, the Grand Ball began. With a Magic Kingdom theme, each class had prepared an elaborate float depicting Fantasyland, Tomorrowland, Frontierland, and Adventureland. Costumed characters and generator powered lights brought the floats to life.

The parade of floats began with the Spirit-leaders. Each class float was followed by their class princess: Freshman, Rachel Thomas; Sophomore, Marium Beevi; Junior, Rainy Lentz; Seniors, Hazelle Estrella, Tricia Harris, Kim Jordan, Becky Poarch, and Kim Novac. As the clock struck 12, the prince placed the slipper on the foot of Kim Jordan and she was crowned 1987 Homecoming Queen. The evening ended as Miss Jordan was driven off in a horse drawn carriage.

Winter Guard

"Perpetual Motion," Costa Mesa's 1987-88 Winter Guard had a great season which included a lot of hard work. With an original style and grace to their routines, this years guard entertained many audience throughout California. With strong determination and a positive attitude, these girls have given their best and are proud to represent Costa Mesa High.

The Chinese Club was involved with many lunchtime fundraisers. On various days in the week the Chinese Club would devote their time at lunch to sell to students and faculty such foods as egg roles, rice, and fortune cookies. Although Chinese Club was originated only last year, it is clear that it will stay on the C.M.H.S. campus for years to come. Other activities the Club has participated in include having dinner at Chinese restaurants, watching movies, spending the day at Disneyland, and ending the year with a beach party.

Miss Lee, you are doing a wonderful job.

Spanish Club

1987-88 was once again a very successful year for Spanish Club. It was one of the most popular clubs on campus. Members took part in such activities as going to Magic Mountain, taking a train to Olvera Street in Los Angeles, the street L.A. grew from, and selling their famous burritos at Santa Village. Club members also received t-shirts and wonderful meals prepared by Mrs. Gutierrez, the clubs advisor.

French Club

Once again the French Club has had a successful year. They are one of the more popular clubs on Mesa's campus. The Club has participated in many activities, among them ice skating, Fondue/Video parties, a visit to a dinner theatre to see the Can-Can, miniature golf, horseback riding, and French dinners. As a tradition, the club sold the Valentine's day grams. Some of the fundraisers they held included selling French lollipops and Swiss chocolates.

German Club

Even though the German Club is a small group, it is still strong. German Club has managed to make a lot of progress in staying in touch and participating in activities membership has grown steadily throughout the year. The German Club has certain weekend activities for all of the qualified members. The Club has planned numerous fundraisers in correlation with other clubs. The club president, Dori Beeler, commented, "Pulling together really helped increase our club's membership."

A.P. Chemistry

A.P. Chemistry has been a very active group here at Mesa this year. Some of the fundraisers they have participated in include bake sales and selling Easter grams. The group has also planned a few sock-hops, in hopes to promote school spirit. The money from these fundraisers will be used to help pay for the A.P. exam at the end of the year. After completing the test, the club plans on putting on a Chemistry Magic Show and perform for the other science classes on campus. This was the first year A.P. Chemistry has started a club. With as much success as they have had, they plan to be a part of Mesa's future a long time to come.

Vietnamese Club

The Vietnamese Club had a very productive year. They believe in school spirit and club unity and have worked hard to promote it with their activities. Such activities included selling eggrolls and rice during lunch, taking a trip to Hollywood to watch the taping of two television shows (inviting non-members to join them as well), and, during the month of February, celebrating the Chinese New Year by having a club barbeque.

Fall Play

This year's fall production of Agatha Christie's "A Murder is Announced" was a tremendous success. The audience was sitting on the edge of their seats waiting to find out who did it. It was a suspenseful murder mystery containing an all but ordinary cast of characters. The play's characters included: Letty Blacklock (Ruth McLain), Miss Jane Marple (Anna Fitzwater), Miss Dora Bunner (Tonya Cardoza), Inspector Craddock (Phil Davis), Mitzi (Sofia Griffin), Julia Simmons (Jen Carnett), Patrick Simmons (Jeffrey Harwell), Phillipia Haymes (Dana Batchelder), Rudy Scherz (Greg Finney), Edmund Swettenham (Cain McBrayer), Clara Swettenham (Amber Kaiser).

F.F.A.

Future Farmers of America is an organization made up of students whose interests vary from chickens to sheep, and roses to ferns. Students learn many things about agriculture in F.F.A. class, which include soil, irrigation, landscaping, and floral arrangements. They learn how to operate different types of machinery, how to grow plants, and how to care for and raise animals. Although having a fun and exciting time in f.f.a. class, students keep a strong emphasis on agricultural business.

Ski Club

Even though the Ski Club was smaller in number compared to past years, they still planned many exciting trips. On the Christmas trip, the Club went to Utah. While on this trip, the students were able to ski at Park City, Park West, Snowbird, and Brighton. On their spring trip they ventured to Colorado to ski Steamboat Springs. The Club also skied locally at Snow Summit, Snow Valley, and Mountain High. Once again, as a tradition, the Ski Club sold candy bars, and the proceeds went toward paying for the students' local and out of state ski trips.

Mesa Pride is a group of very hard working individuals. Even though the group is small, they created many new ideas on campus. The club members participated in Santa's Village by selling homemade goodies. With the dedication of a few members, the club put on an event for the entire school. The club advisor, Mrs. Cheri Sheldon states that "Costa Mesa High School can show its Mesa Pride in many ways if we have the student power to back us up!"

Student Representatives

As a result of the merging of Davis and Mesa, the Davis constitution was no longer valid. Therefore, they did not have a student council. Instead they had student representatives, who acted as student council. Their responsibilities included selling dance tickets, setting up the dances, and letting the other students know of upcoming events.

Knotts

Knotts Berry Farm was the scene of excitement for most seventh and eighth graders. As an incentive, the honor role students are awarded a special field trip for each grading period. Ideas for the trips include Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, and Wild Rivers. The students are therefore motivated to work harder and more accurately. They look forward to the reward and love the idea. One student commented, "It's a really cool idea! You get to go with all your friends, it's a lot of fun,"

"Here's our vogue look"

Halloween-Turkey Day

Both Halloween and Turkey Day were fun and exciting for the seventh and eighth graders. Many students showed their school spirit by coming to school in costume. A Halloween dance was held after school. A Turkey race between the classes was held during lunch, the day before Thanksgiving.

Isn't HE cute?!

Trick or Treat!

The 1987

On December 17, 1987, the cafeteria was filled with beautiful young ladies and handsome young men. There were almost two hundred students in attendance. It lasted from seven to nine, while students danced to the latest hits. Refreshments were generously supplied by the PTA. There were over thirty door prizes distributed. They included gift certificates for records and movies, christmas candy, stuffed animals, and much more. Free candy canes were given to everyone.

Yearbook Staff

This year's yearbook staff was a very close-knit group, which worked very well together. Many of the editors exhibited a lackadaisical attitude at the beginning of the year. This attitude changed very quickly as students started feeling the pressures of meeting deadlines. "Yearbook" was taken very seriously and class time was used conscientiously for the remainder of the year. The yearbook's success can be credited immensely to those students who returned from last year's staff. All the editors will agree that they encountered many stressful situations; however, they did manage to enjoy their experiences on the 1987-1988 yearbook staff.

The Hitching Post

In their second year with the Hitching Post, the computers made life not only easier on the editors, but also more fun. This year's staff covered a wide range of topics not only having to do with Costa Mesa High School but with the world. The Mustang of the issue was again a big hit among the students and faculty. With computer's playing a major role in the construction of the Hitching Post, and the fine young editors writing it, the Hitching Post has secured itself a place in Costa Mesa High School's future.

Winter Formal

Mesa Pride pulled off another wonderful Winter Formal. This year's Winter Formal was held at the Anaheim Hilton on the evening of January 22, 1988. About 130 Costa Mesa High School Students attended, both as couples and in groups of friends. The theme of the event was a Masqued Ball. Although only a few students wore masks, the theme was carried out beautifully in the decorations and the table centerpieces. Disc Jockey Rick Izaguirre provided the music and light show. The cost for the evening was $15 per person. This included soft drinks and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres.

Dirty River Basketball Game

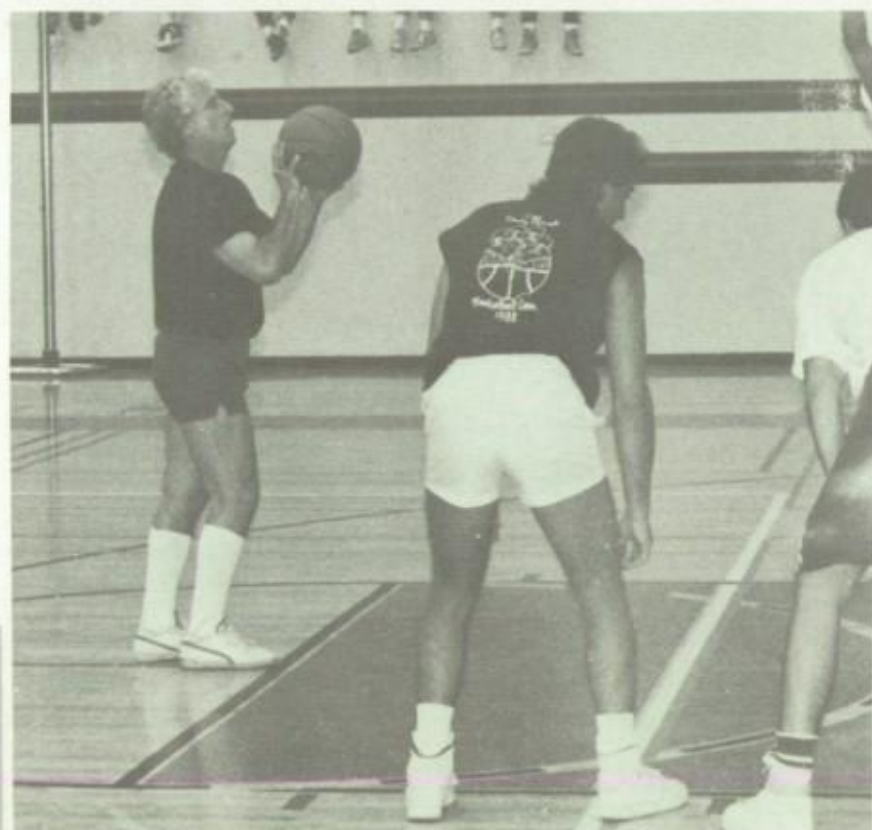

This year history repeated itself. Once more, the experience of the faculty dominated the egocentric seniors. The score was not very close throughout most of the game, but there was plenty of excitement to rouse the capacity crowd. The Dirty River Basketball Game is sponsored by the CMHS baseball team. To help support the game, the baseball team held a raffle, and the winner received 100 gallons of gas.

Student Council

The 1987-88 Costa Mesa Associated Student Body this school year had much to contribute. The jobs that ASB encounter include everything from planning dances to fighting for students' rights. Although Student Council had a few low points, the majority of the effort, contributed by council, was greatly appreciated. This year's ASB presidency was won by Scott Palmer.

Drama Club

Enthusiasm in Drama and Stagecraft was quite apparent this year. During class, drama students learned the basics of acting. They sharpened their acting skills through many skits, improvisations and monologues. As drama students learned about acting on stage, stagecraft students learned about the technical aspects of acting and everything that goes on back stage. Many of the drama and stagecraft students were filled with much fun and excitement.

Math Team

The 1987-88 Math Team is off to an impressive start. In May, the team will compete for a chance to go to the county finals. They also compete for scholarships. The Math Team is one of the most dedicated academic teams at Costa Mesa High School and shows fine character and determination.

We Interrupt This Program To Bring You These Important Bulletins . . .

Scott Palmer, seemingly harmless do-gooder, finally picked a real fight with long-time friend/adversary and AAA League baseball star Greg Ertel. After many months of small battles over who's the best athlete, scholar, boyfriend, etc. they arrived at a pinnacle of tension that caused Palmer to beckon (as shown in the photo) Ertel to fight by saying, "C'mon Greg, you suck!"

Does this man below look psycho to you? If he does, then you're right on target. Editor in chief of the yearbook (a title shared by August Seeber) ANDY PRICKETT is believed to have been committed to the Asylum for the Temporarily Insane for such actions as running over small animals with his van (known as the "Death Wagon"), and putting pages like this in the yearbook.

Clint Dieball — photographic extraordinaire — who always seems to have a camera on his shoulder, announced his plans for a photographic autobiography on the life and times of CLINT: Legend of the Lens. Our sources tell us that included in the photo-novel will be a portrayal of the covert dealings that got Clint into USC Film School!

FRANK INFUSINO, Principal of Costa Mesa High School, has recently been named TIME Magazine's Man of the . . . Education System. When reassured that this title makes him eligible for Man of the Year, Infusino exclaimed, "I love my job!" I'd like to call a hearty "Three Cheers" for Frank and the excellent man he is!

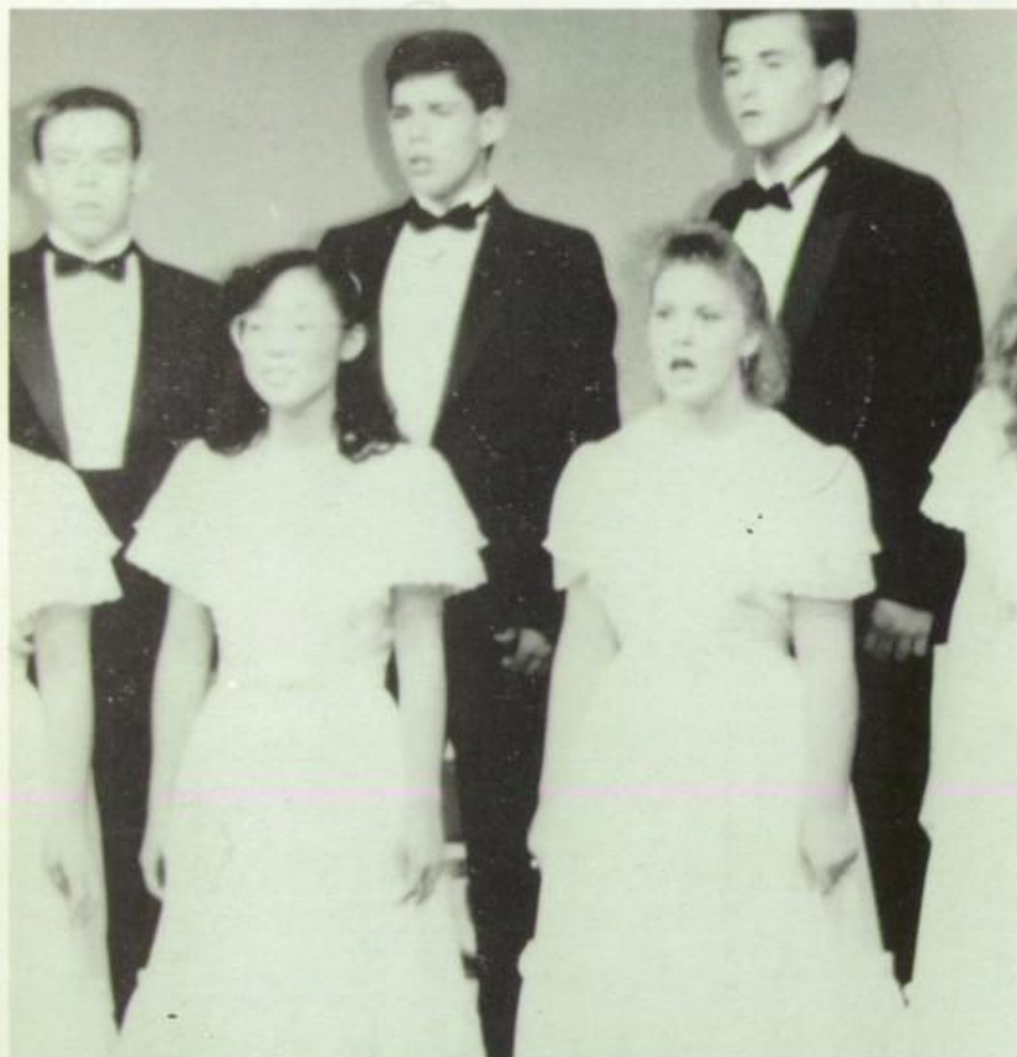

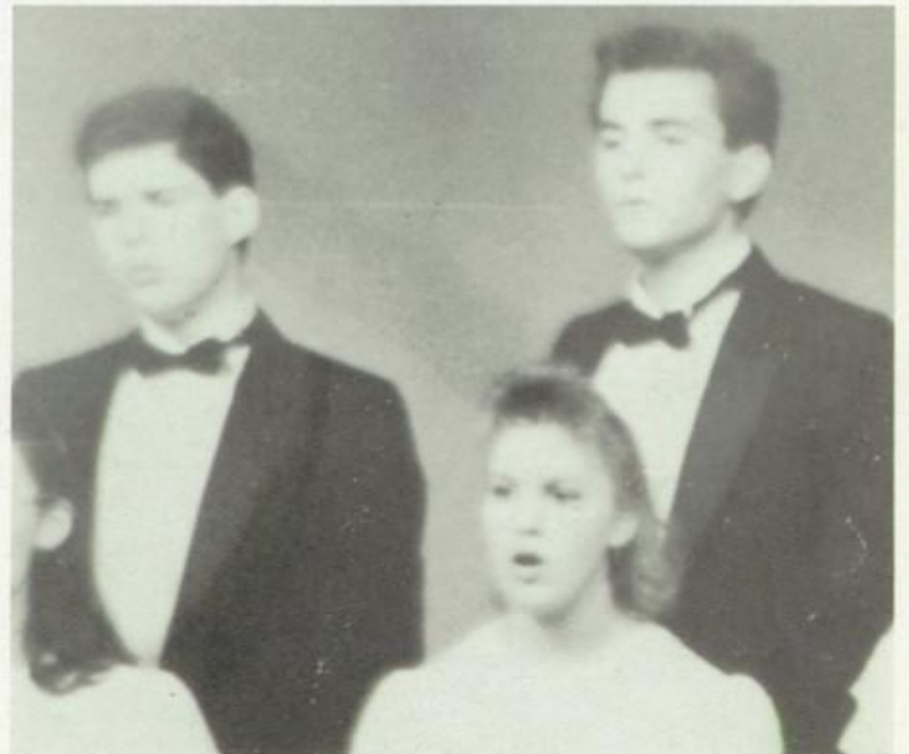

Choir

Choir is an experience that most students will not have. But for these few people it is an experience that they will never regret. They put in hard work and long hours for that perfect sound and rhythm that makes every minute worth the effort. The Choir performed for local schools in the district during the Fall. During the Spring, the choir participated in performances at community events.

Dating Game

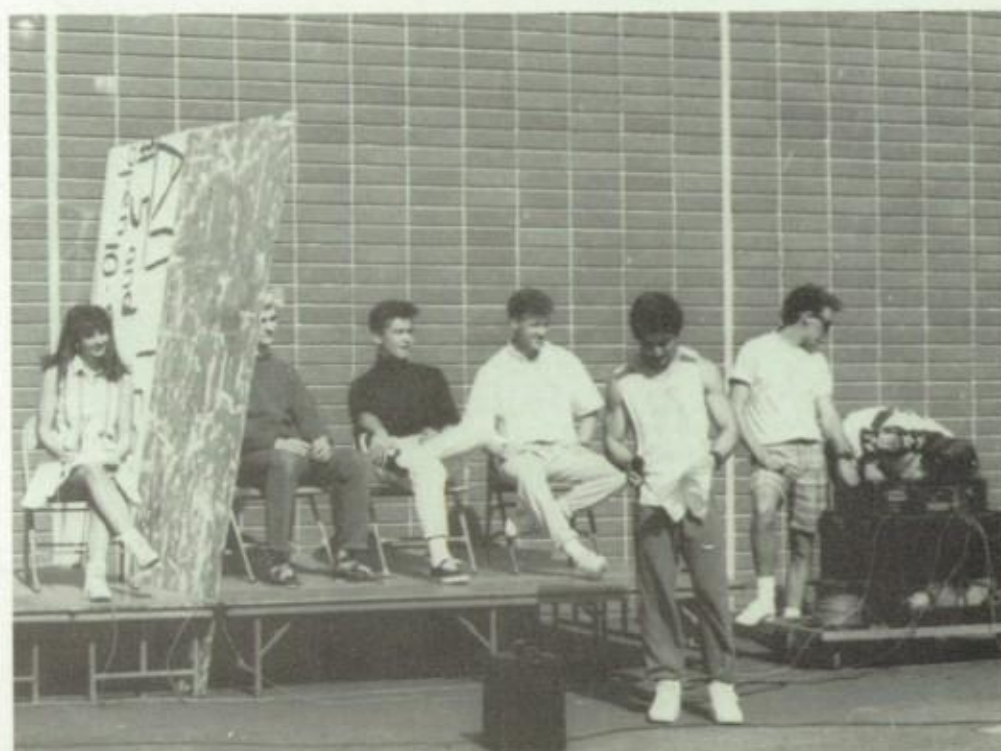

The Dating Game this year had an interesting twist. Instead of the game being played just by students from Costa Mesa High, Estancia was invited, and took part in the festivities. Three couples were each given 25 dollars for a night out on the town. The three contestants from Costa Mesa High School were Stacy Emerson, Tim McDowell, and Scott Taylor.

Slave Day

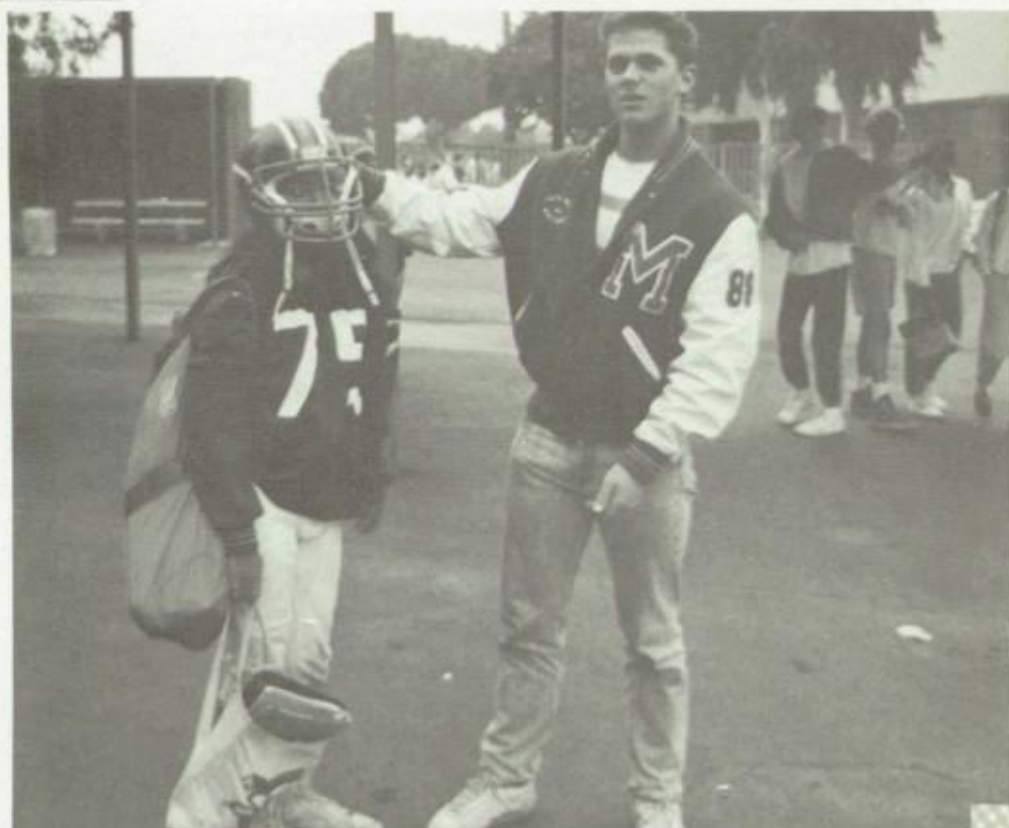

"Es Cheech and Chong"

Costa Mesa's Slave Day this year hit an all time high. For ASB it meant over two hundred dollars in profits, and for slaves and masters it meant a day full of excitement. Between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. the masters had the privilege of complete control over their slave and, as can be seen, they took full advantage of their rights.

Graduation Day

Thank you for the memories of Costa Mesa High;
Some of us worked hard here and others just got by.
But no matter how, we made it here, to graduate today.

And just to think our Freshman year it seemed too far away.

Lots of friends collected here, some to last our whole lives through

I think this class would be glad to say the enemies were few.

All of us at one time were friends, if only for a day.

This class shines together in a very special way.

Maybe we had fun here, but now we will be free.

After today in the Real World, together we will be.

No longer in the classroom or at the football games

Out there we will find new friends and learn all new names.

Some of us will grasp the memories and others may not care.

We taught each other many things the teachers would not dare.

Hopefully we find pleasant thoughts looking back on these 4 years.

Together we have felt our great joys and fought our deepest fears.

These memories should be cherished each and every day.

We have all touched each other's lives in a very special way.

So here we come world, we won't make you wait.

You're getting the best ever!

The Class of 1988

Sadie Hawkins Dance

This year's Sadie Hawkins dance took a different twist — MORP. Of course that is "Prom" backwards, and that was the theme. Everyone dressed their worst (which was normal for some of us) and the girls asked the boys, and the whole evening was casual — including a casual meal at the fast-food joint of your choice. The DJ rocked the house and everyone really got into it. A success it was, and a very comfortable one at that.

"Who's BAD?!"

Hangin' out is a part of every dance.
Shannon Austin breaks away from the pack.

Kaelyn says, "Now listen here, girls, I helped set up this dance, so I don't want any trouble from you."

A Boogie — Down Trio.

Christina, Tracey, and Marlo — Hot babes modeling the MORP design.

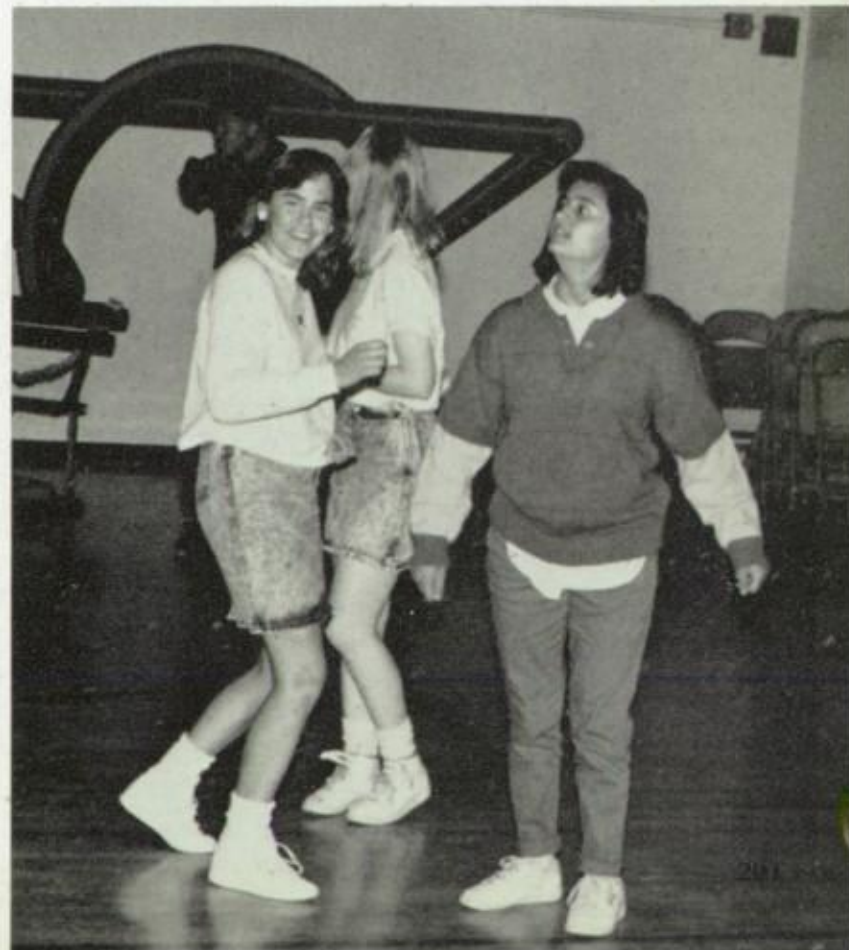

Another lucky winner gets taken off to JAIL.

Listen buddy, quit dancin' with my babe or I'll have to take you outside.

"Hey where's our dates?" "I don't know, but that photographer's pretty cute."

The Perfect End To A New Beginning

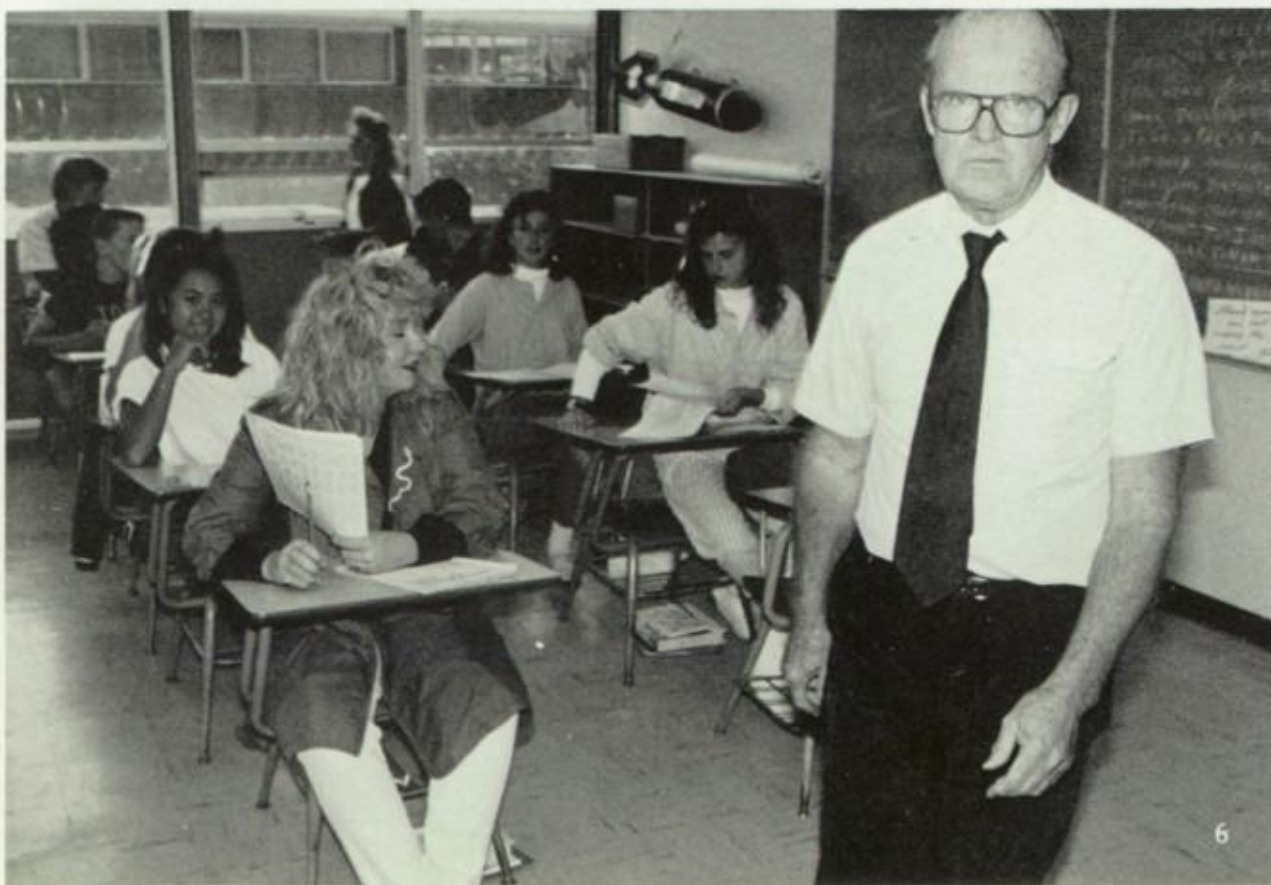

Miraculously, with the combined effort of both staff and students, 1987 was survived. Although obstacles new and old (new population, old ceiling tiles) stood in the way, determination for a successful year was always present. The ability to change, work as a team, and accept new challenges was the key to success. "Together We Can" was certainly an appropriate theme. The year was not just inflated talk or "PR" hype it was changing, working, and making Mesa the best that it could be.

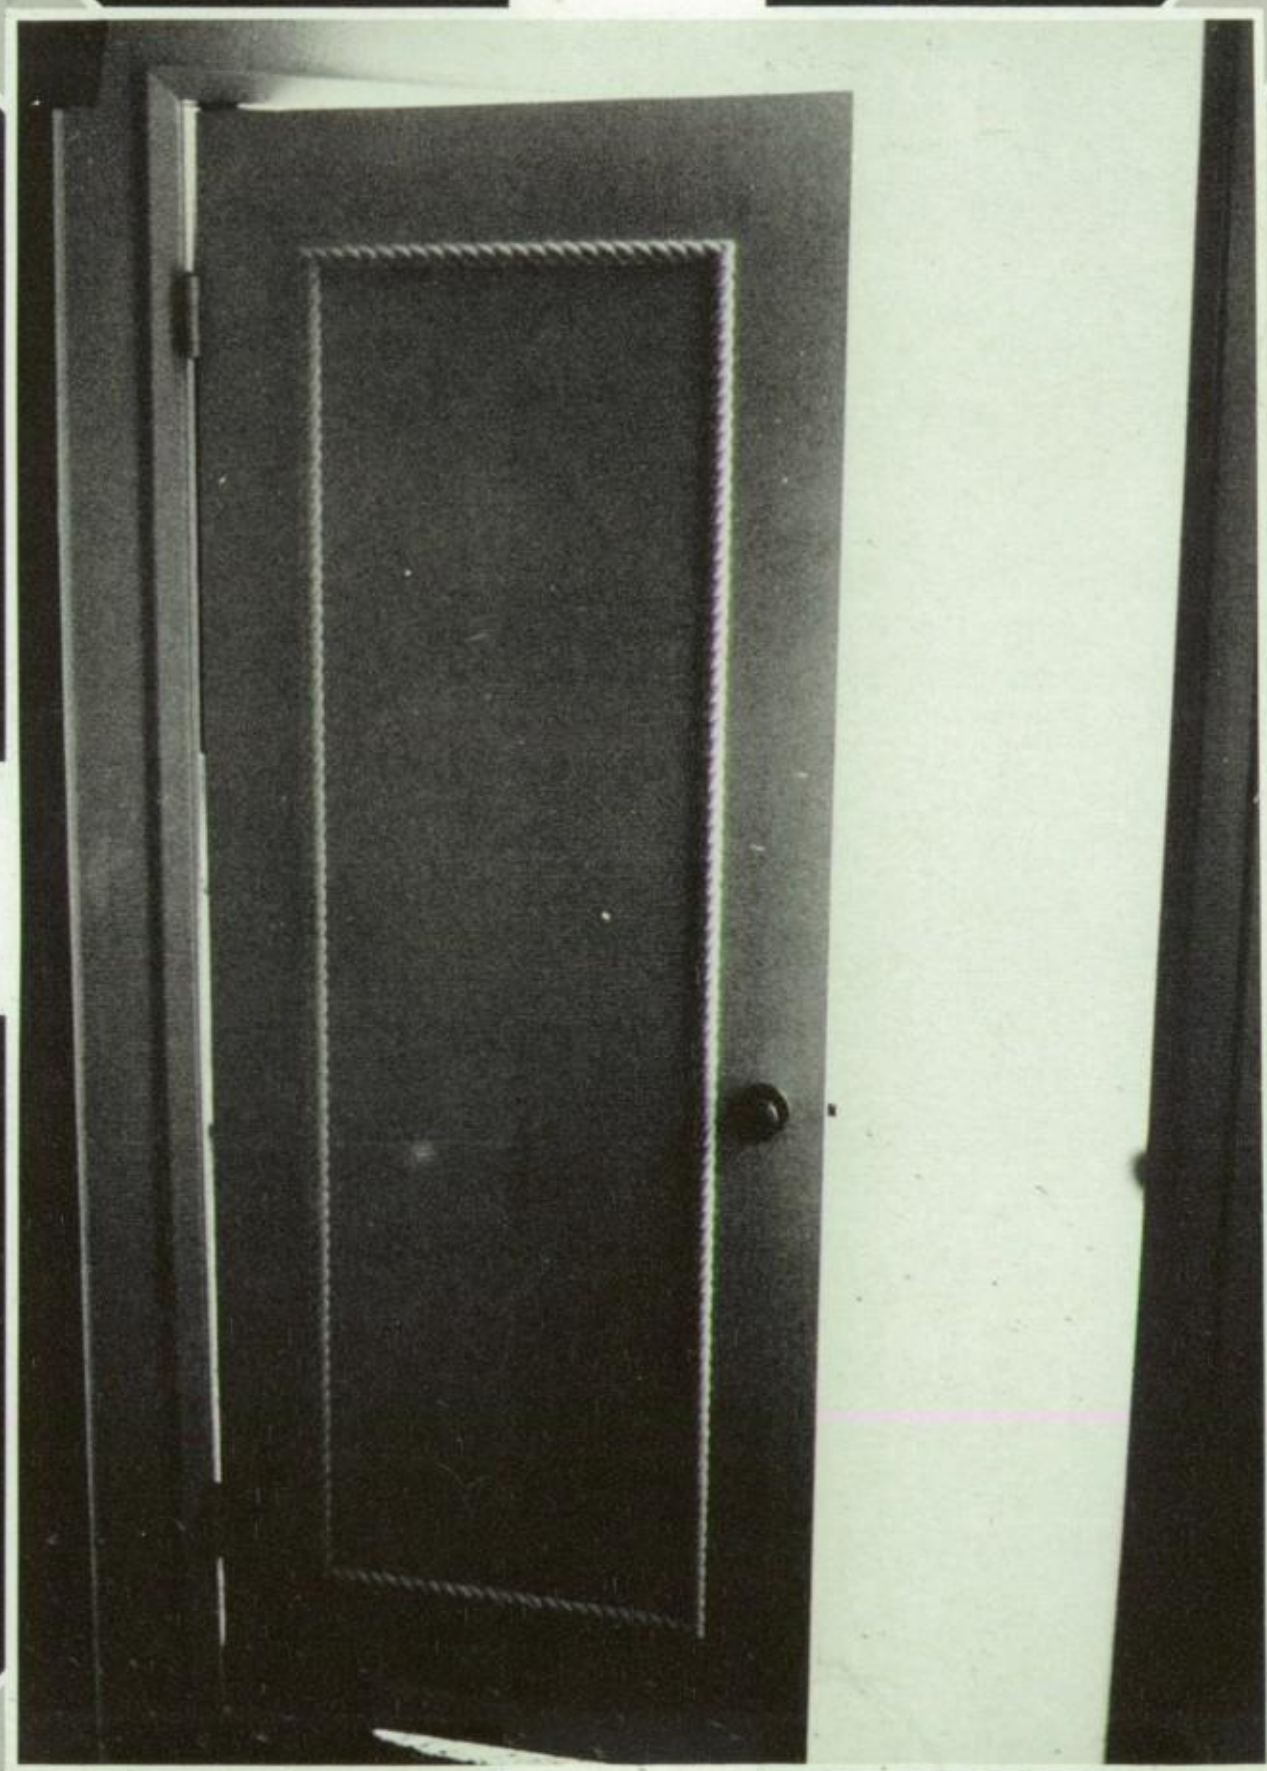

As we sum up the year for the Seniors and start the new year for the Underclassmen, remember, High School is a single word that can represent nearly every adjective in the book. It is memories remembered and created by you that give the word "High School" a definition.

1. Yep, Yep, Yep (What a grin.) 2. A group spunk-athon. 3. My name's Brad. Will you be my friend? 4. Yah, Yah, that one right there. 5. I'll work, sure, no problem. 6. Mr. Beaton on the warpath.

202-Closing

The Door Is Open And Your Future Beyond It . . .

What can be said? 1987-88 has come and gone and the Mustang rides runs on.

Underclassmen: you've yet to pass through the door. Ride the Mustang and don't be in a hurry to grow up. Life is great when you enjoy it day by day.

Seniors: it's all over; Now we walk through the door. Always go forth, keeping the past in perspective. It is the knowledge of the past which will help us in the future; so go for it!!!!

But Remember Always

*Note-*This year's yearbook was finished on March 23. We have tried to incorporate all aspects of student body activities in your book. However, due to our obvious time restraint, we can only briefly cover spring sports and we cannot cover graduation events. Hopefully, you've stayed informed of these activities and had a GREAT YEAR.

MY FALLEN ANGEL

So Young, So Loving,
So Giving, So Sweet,
We'll love you forever
So please do not weep.

Your smiles were abundant,
Wanting people to laugh;
You were always fun loving,
Sometimes upsetting the staff.

Always kind, considerate,
Responsible too,
You would strive for perfection
In whatever you'd do.

You could be outrageous;
Buy only precious to me,
As you were near perfect,
When taken from me.

Our time together is cherished;
As I look for answers WHY?
But nothing seems to happen,
So I can't seem to say Good-Bye!

With Love
Your mother, Your Friend,
And Your Biggest Fan

PUSHED TO THE EDGE

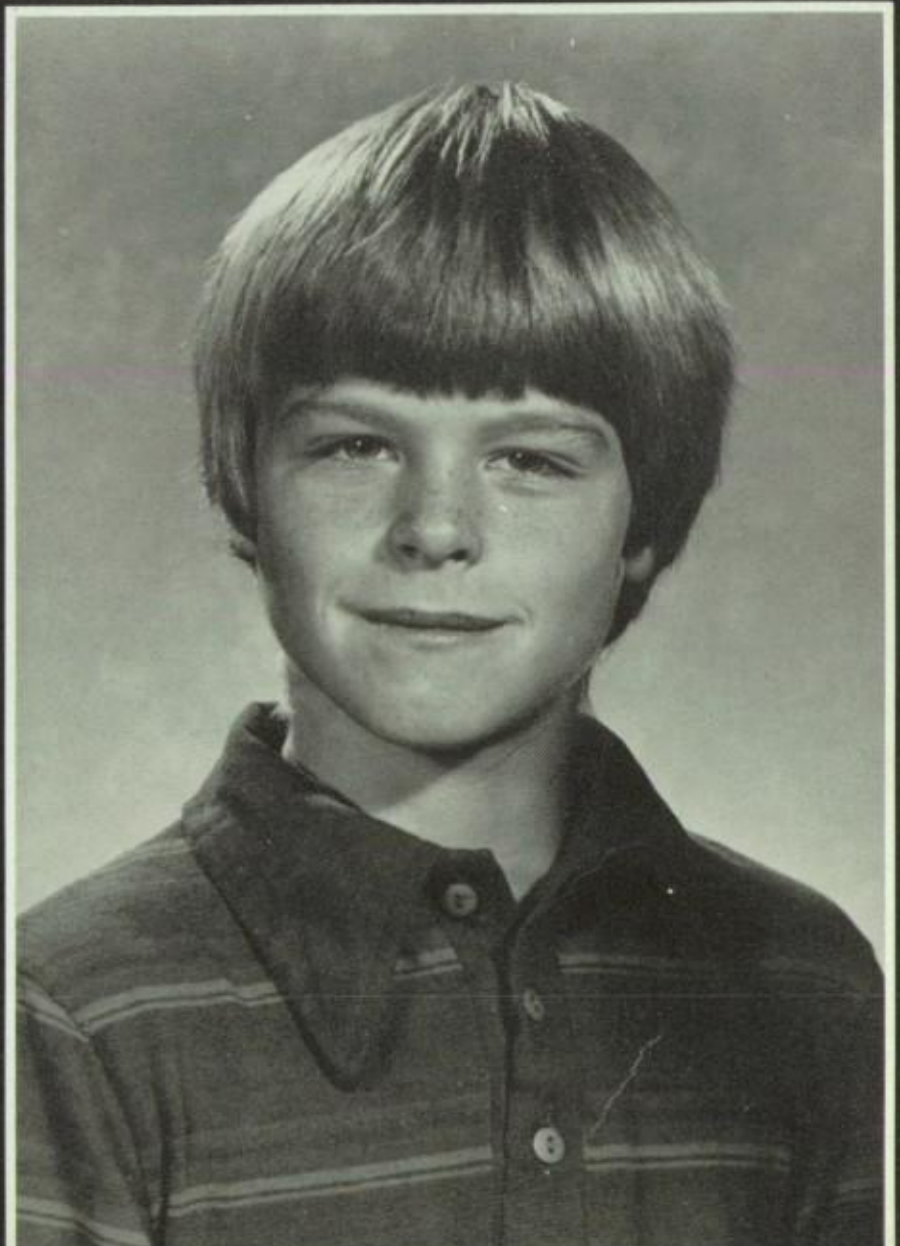

Starting the season
Broken hearted this fall,
You dedicated your playing to the girl,
Who made you stand tall.

Every block, every tackle,
Was done with finesse,
To prove to your classmates,
She had chosen the BEST!

So quiet and shy,
Yet so courageous and strong;
Will make you a winner,
Your whole life long.

We Love so much
And hate when you're sad;
As your pain is our pain!
You'll see, when you're a Dad!

Love You,
Mom & Dad

Robert,
We are so proud of your accomplishments.
Mom Dad & Liz

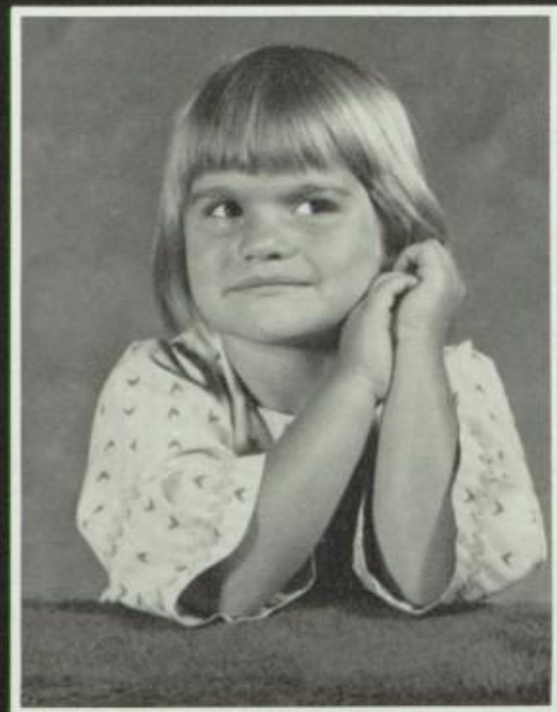

Congratulations Gina

We are so proud of who you are and love you with all our heart. Any goals you set we know you will reach.

Interesting. That's the word I elect to describe my experience as an editor-in-chief of the annual this year. But how could anyone have anything but an interesting time in yearbook because, as you may not know, the class is chock-full of challenging duties, duties to challenge, and responsibilities to uphold. Since withholding my gratitude would be criminal, my dearest thanks go to August C. Seeber — with whom I feel I have achieved a splendid balance of leadership in the class and who has become my pal throughout our (for lack of a better word) laborious course together. And Jimney Crickets, there are others! To our copy editors: a hearty "thank you" for always being there and exerting your fine language skills. To the select, individual editors: good job! You've each done your part well in helping create our finely-tuned mechanism. Most of all, I give a grappling handshake to Clint L. Dieball and his photographic staff, who are now free from any responsibility since they did their best with what they had. And of course, I am grateful to Mr. VanTreese, for his enlightening sense of humor, and his constant influx of guidance and spirit. You know, when I was a youngster, I always dreamed of being the high school yearbook editor-in-chief, and now having reached and wrapped that goal, if I was asked to do it again — I'd be interested.

Well here it is-and not a moment too soon.

Let's give credit where credit is due. First and most important, my esteemed partner, Andrew Prickett: I sincerely hope you don't lose any sleep in the future. Next, a hearty "Hi Ho" goes to the class editors: your effort sure pays off in the pages of this book. Then to the photographers, who were our Rocks of Gibraltar: your patience and punctuality sure shows off in the pictures you did take. To all the staff I haven't mentioned: your input and work were just as important and only lack of space will restrain me from mentioning your names. Last and certainly not least, thanks to Mr. David VanTreese: what would Chester and Fester do without you? It's been a great two years having you as my advisor. I wish you good health for many years.

This yearbook is a reflection of the entire year. It is produced for you-the student body. We as a staff try our best to create a theme and with the students' assistance we incorporate it. I sincerely hope you enjoy the work of our staff, Andy Prickett, and myself.

Andrew Douglas Prickett

August C. Seeber
